D. APPLETON & CO.

Will Publish April 2:

A Treatise on Co-operative Savings and Loan Associations.

Including Building and Loan Associations, Mutual Savings and Loan Associations, Accumulating Fund Associations, Co-operative Banks, etc. With Appendix containing Laws of New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts, Forms for Articles of Associations, By-Laws, Account-Books, etc. By SEYMOUR DEXTER, President of "The Chemung Valley Mutual Association," and Vice-President of "The New York Co-operative Savings and Building Loan Association State League." 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

The Playtime Naturalist.

By Dr. J. E. TAYLOR, F.L.S., Editor of "Science Gossip." With 366 illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"As the writer," says the author in his preface, "was once a boy himself, and vividly remembers the never-to-be-forgotten rambles and observations of the objects in the country, and, moreover, as he treasures up such reminiscences as the most pleasant and innocent of an active man's life, he thought he could not do better than enlist this younger generation in the same loves and the same pleasures."

"The work contains abundant evidence of the author's knowledge and enthusiasm. . . . The style is clear and lively, and there are many good illustrations."—Nature.

A Dreamer of Dreams.

A Modern Romance. By the author of "Thoth." Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper cover, 50 cents (also in cloth, 75 cents).

NEW BOOKS.

THROUGH THE HEART OF ASIA OVER THE PAMIR TO INDIA.

By GABRIEL BONVALOT. With 250 illustrations (many full-page engravings) by Albert Pepin. Translated from the French by C. B. Pitman. 2 vols., imperial 8vo, cloth, $10.50.

The London Spectator says: "The volumes, written throughout with French brightness, ARE A VALUABLE CONTRIBUTION TO OUR KNOWLEDGE OF CENTRAL ASIA."

"The narrative is sprightly and interesting, and contains much new information about a part of the central Asian region which, though plentifully written about, cannot as yet be said to be at all thoroughly known. The volumes are illustrated profusely, and a considerable proportion of the engravings are spirited and carefully executed. An index adds to the permanent value of the book, and it is also furnished with a good route map."—N. Y. Tribune.

THE INDUSTRIES OF JAPAN. Together with an Account of its Agriculture, Mining, Forestry, Arts, and Commerce. From Travels and Researches Undertaken at the Cost of the Prussian Government. By Prof. J. J. REIN, University of Bonn. Illustrated by engravings, lithographs, and native fabrics, many full-page engravings, some beautifully colored, and three maps. Royal 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $10.00.

"There is a great deal, a vast deal of information packed into its pages, . . . with colored and uncolored photographs, woodcuts, maps, tables of statistics, everything of the kind that makes the 'average reader' grit his teeth, are paraded with the simple air of the German professor. . . . If the author has not produced a work which will lie on the parlor table—HE CAN BE CERTAIN OF A PLACE IN EVERY LIBRARY well stocked with works on the East, where it will be a capital work of reference, without having the dryness ordinarily meant by that term."—N. Y. Times.

SECOND EDITION BY SAME AUTHOR.

JAPAN: Travels and Researches Undertaken at the Cost of the German Government. With illustrations (many full-page), and two maps. Royal 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $7.50.

N. Y. Nation says: "We know of no other book in the Japanese Library containing so rich and orderly an arrangement of data, valuable alike to the man of science and the general student."

NEW VOLUME OF THE BOOK-LOVERS' LIBRARY.

FOREIGN VISITORS IN ENGLAND, AND WHAT THEY HAVE THOUGHT OF US. Some Notes on their Books and Opinions during the last Three Centuries. By EDWARD SMITH. 12mo, antique paper, uncut edges, cloth, $1.25. Being the 9th vol. of this Library, including: I. "How to Form a Library;" II. "Old Cookery Books;" III. "Modern Methods of Illustrating Books;" IV. "Dedication of Books;" V. "Gleanings in Old Garden Literature;" VI. "Story of Some Famous Books;" VII. "Enemies of Books;" VIII. "Book of Noodles." Each vol. $1.25. Sold separately or in sets.

THE SECOND SERIES OF SIX VOLUMES OF

THE EXPOSITOR'S BIBLE. Edited by W. R. NICOL, Editor of The London Expositor.

$1.50 per vol. Three vols. now ready, viz.: "BOOK OF ISAIAH, vol. I., by Rev. G. A. Smith. EPISTLE TO GALATIANS, by Rev. G. G. Findlay. THE PASTORAL EPISTLES, by Rev. Dr. A. A. Plumer. Nearly ready: EPISTLES OF ST. JOHN, by Bishop W. Alexander. FIRST EPISTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS, by Rev. Marcus Dods, D.D. BOOK OF REVELATION, by Prof. Wm. Milligan. Each volume complete in itself.

This series consists of EXPOSITORY LECTURES ON THE BIBLE by the foremost preachers and theologians of the day. While having regard to the latest results of scholarship, the volumes are essentially popular and ADAPTED TO GENERAL READERS quite as much as the clergy.

THE NEW (2d) VOLUME OF THE

SERMON BIBLE, containing Kings to Psalm LXXVI.; also a new edition of the 1st volume, containing Genesis to Samuel inclusive. Each volume containing upwards of 600 sermon outlines and several thousand references. Strongly bound, buckram back. Crown 8vo, 520 pages, with 24 blank pages additional for notes, cloth, $1.50 per vol.

THIS SERIES OF VOLUMES gives in convenient form the essence of the best homiletic literature of this generation. It takes account of the best and greatest preachers, and is compiled from manuscript reports and fugitive periodical sources as well as from books.

THE BEGINNINGS OF ETHICS. By Rev. CARROLL CUTLER, D.D., formerly President of Western Reserve College, Ohio. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, $1.25, net.

The subject is handled throughout in its concrete and real nature. Facts and theories are stated in a straightforward and practical way. There is no special criticism of other views except in the chapters on "The Conscience and The Will." The style is plain and clear, and the subject-matter is everywhere fresh and interesting.

LECTURES ON THE HISTORY OF PREACHING. By the late Rev. JOHN

KERR, D.D. Edited by Rev. A. R. Macwen, Balliol B.D., Glasgow. With Introduction by the Rev. Wm. M. Taylor, D.D., LL.D. 1 vol., crown 8vo, $1.50.

DR. TAYLOR'S introduction says: "The author of these lectures stood in the very front rank of the preachers both of his country and his age. . . . For thoughtful preachers, this volume would prove more helpful than most helps for the pulpit. To the careful study of all such, we heartily commend the work."

A. C. ARMSTRONG AND SON'S RECENT PUBLICATIONS.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

"We have laughed with him at our neighbors, and now, if we are clever, we will laugh with him at ourselves."—Daily Graphic, N. Y.

"One reads the book with a perpetual smile on one's face, punctuated every now and then by a loud laugh, as one follows the brilliant Frenchman through his six months' tour of America. . . . He has glanced at things with the eye of a trained observer and commented upon them with originality and humor. . . . One lays down the book with a wish that one might know its author."—Chicago News.

"The sensation of the spring. . . . It will tickle the American in spots and make him mad in spots, but it will be read, talked of, enjoyed."—Home Journal, Boston.

Centennial Anniversary

Washington's Inauguration.

Square 8vo, stiff paper covers, 25 cents.

In view of the celebration of the Centennial of Washington's acceptance of the Presidency, to be universally commemorated on April 30 next, Messrs. White and Allen are preparing for issue, about April 6, an historical souvenir by Mrs. Martha J. Lamb, Editor of the Magazine of American History.

Mrs. Lamb ("America's leading historian") has carefully prepared this brochure, giving a vivid picture of Washington's Inauguration, a sketchy description of prominent incidents occurring during his occupancy of the chair, together with glimpses of Historic Homes and Landmarks now extant.

These articles will be issued by the Publishers in a style befitting the occasion, and will contain a series of illustrations consisting of upwards of forty reproductions of portraits, buildings, landmarks, etc., of the olden times, together with an official programme of exercises, etc., to take place throughout our country.

Above can be secured of the leading jobbing houses, or will be supplied by the publishers,

Bunce, Oliver Bell. The story of Happinolande, and other legends. N. Y., Appleton, 1889. c. 188 p. D. (The Gainsborough ser.), pap., 25 c.

"The story of Happinolande" pointedly illustrates the misfortune it would be to mankind generally if it were possible to equally distribute this world's goods. Happinolande had been a happy, contented valley till gold was discovered in the mountain-side. The find is so vast that the Council of the city decides to distribute it equally among the people without regard to sex or age. The result is most disastrous. With so much wealth, no one is willing to work, and a condition of affairs is brought about which is so demoralizing that all rejoice when a great flood washes the treasure-house away. "A millionaire's millions" shows that giving is not a remedy for poverty. "The city Beautiful" is a little allegory directed against the many imperfections of New York City. In "John's attic" young married people will find a lesson in economy, full of common-sense and practical suggestions.

Campbell, Helen. Under green apple boughs. Bost., Ticknor & Co., 1889. c. '82: 5-272 p. 1 il., S. (Ticknor's pap. ser., no. 54.) pap., 50 c.

Opening in Russia, the scene is rapidly transferred to Vienna, and thence to England. The motive is the hunting down of an English lord by his wife, "Bella-Demonia," to avenge a wrong. The Englishman, to satisfy a fancied insult, denounces a Russian prince as a Nihilist. The result is the death of the prince and of his wife and child. The story is most sensational, being unusually rich in crimes, intrigues, and unscrupulous men and women.

Doty, Alvah H., M.D. A manual of instruction in the principles of prompt aid to the injured; designed for military and civil use. N. Y., Appleton, 1889. c. 11+224 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

The object of this manual is to instruct those who are desirous of knowing what course to pursue in emergencies, in order that sick or injured may be temporarily relieved. Special effort has been made to so arrange the matter and introduce such points as will be of use to the ambulance corps connected with the different military organizations. Considerable space has been devoted to anatomy and physiology, in order that the subject may be well understood by non-medical persons. Each topic is explained in a plain and simple manner, and when medical terms are used their lay synonyms are also given. The numerous illustrations aid materially in making the work more intelligible.

- Morton, J: Maddison. Plays for home performance; with biographical introduction by Clement Scott. N. Y., Ward, Lock & Co., 1889. 12+130 p. D. cl., 75 c.
These plays, by the famous author of "Box and Cox," are admirably adapted for amateur performances. They are short, exceedingly amusing, and do not require expensive or troublesome dress and scenery. The book comprises, "First come, first served," "Peppercot's little pets," "After a storm comes a calm," "Express," "Taken from the French," "Declined—with thanks."
- Needle-craft: artistic and practical. N. Y., The Butterick Publishing Co., 1889. 320 p. il. O. (Metropolitan art ser., no. 1.) cl., 75 c.
The first volume of a new series devoted to home art. It comprises illustrated papers on the numberless pretty and useful articles ladies like to make, with directions for the various fancy stitches and fancy sewing required in making them. A few of the subjects are: appliqué work, drawn-work, tatting, fancy bags, gifts for gentlemen, tidies and fancy mats, sofa pillows and cushions, fancy-work aprons, window draperies, mantel lambrequins and draperies, ornamental portières, macramé lace work, crocheted laces, darned work, Kensington embroidery, etc., etc.

Saltus, Edgar. A transaction in hearts: an episode. N. Y. and Chic., Belford, Clarke & Co., [1889.] c. 188 p. D. (The household lib., v. 4, no. 18.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Christopher Gonfalon is the rector of a New York Episcopal church. The story turns upon his base love for his wife's young sister, who lives under his roof, and for whom he is guardian. He schemes in every way to possess the young girl, who finally escapes him by marrying a wealthy young "snob," whom she despises, but who has saved her father's name from ignominy at the sacrifice of ten thousand dollars.

Sergeant, Adeline. Esther Denison: a novel. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1889. 4+521 p. S. (Leisure hour ser., no. 224.) cl., $1; pap., 30 c.

In "Esther Denison" we have a strong character study. Esther is the daughter of a dissenting minister, who loses his pulpit because he cannot any longer preach conscientiously of eternal punishment for the wicked. He dies in great poverty, leaving his wife and little Esther to the cold mercy of the world. Esther is cared for and educated by a wealthy friend, who had long admired Mr. Denison's independent spirit, but never suspected his poverty. She becomes a governess in her benefactor's family, and learns to love his young nephew, Sebastian. The tragedy of this love, which is altogether out of the conventional line of novel-writing, is the heart of the book. Throughout Esther's character gains in strength and nobility through her sufferings.

Sergeant, Adeline. Under false pretences: a novel. N. Y., Frank F. Lovell & Co., 1889. 429 p. D. (Lovell's international ser., no. 6.) pap., 50 c.

Sims, G: R. A missing husband and other tales. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie, 1889. 162 p. D. (The red cover ser., no. 35.) pap., 25 c.

*Spurgeon, C: H. Twelve sermons on the resurrection, delivered at the Metropolitan Tabernacle. N. Y. and Chic., Fleming H. Revell, 1889. 144 p. O. cl., 50 c.

Vincent, Jacques. Vaillante, ce que femme veut. N. Y., W. R. Jenkins, 1889. 227 p. D. (Romans choisis, no. 12.) pap., 60 c.

This work has not only been crowned by the French Academy, but awarded the Montyon prize—for virtue. The heroine is a young girl, a donkey driver, who saves the life of another child from drowning, and in a transport of gratitude the impulsive mother adopts her. She proves worthy of the attention given to her, but as she develops into a strong, intelligent, beautiful maidenhood, envy and jealousy creep into the family relations, even to the point of estrangement, but when the benefactor's family is ruined by an earthquake and the death of her adopted father, she it is who valiantly undertakes to support the family, whose members, used to a life of luxury and indolence, lack energy and spirit to meet their misfortunes.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 30, 1889.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE AMERICAN BOOK MARKET.

UNDERLYING all questions of the book trade in America is one great fact, that there are here over 60,000,000 of people, speaking one language, the most of them able to read, and on the average more able to buy books than the people of any other country. The trade in reading must be, and is, enormous. The newspaper press, the magazines and like periodicals, the lending libraries, public or other, and the book trade conjointly supply the literary food for these millions of consumers. The newspapers grow bigger and bigger, until their Sunday issues supply for three or four cents more than a day's reading, and they boast larger and larger circulations. For the time being, in the large cities, they monopolize a great part of the reading time of the week, and lessen in this manner the time available for books. "If you read this," says Ruskin, "you cannot read that." The quality varies from sensational stuff to the excellent literary matter of the syndicates, and while these dailies do a great deal of demoralization at the moment, they are developing the reading habit continuously. The magazines of the literary class have in some instances what are called enormous circulations, though all told they do not add up to a million copies. They are of the highest type and, we believe, directly encourage book-reading, although they also take time. The middle-class periodical press, such as the Youth's Companion, the Ladies' Home Journal of Philadelphia, Once a Week, the New York Ledger and its rivals, find a very much wider field in reaching the "un-literary class." The public libraries throughout the country of course supply reading in a great many centres, but the number is not so large proportionately as might be thought. The Government Report issued in 1887 registered 5338, with 20,622,076 volumes, and allowing for additions since, the present number of libraries would scarcely exceed 6000, or their books 24,000,000, not one-half book per head of population. Deducting all these sources of supply, remembering that in the thirty years since 1859 our population has more than doubled and that the proportion of illiteracy has much decreased, there ought to be a great market still left for the sale of books.

There is a great market, but it is not what it should be. What is more, it is not as high class in America as was the book market of a generation ago. Just before the war several of the existing houses and the predecessors of existing houses in New York, Boston, and Philadelphia were almost at the culmination of their prosperity; and besides these there were a number of other publishing houses of note or respectability whose names are honorable in the history of literature. It would be difficult to find now any publisher who would undertake at his own risk the issue of the many standard series of books which were so creditable to American book production of thirty years back. Publishers find in the present state of American literature little to encourage them; authors find in the present state of American literature little to encourage them. The largest houses are unwilling to take the risks which a generation ago their fathers in the business would have taken.

On the other hand, great quantities of books have no doubt been sold. The wide sale of the cheap quartos, mostly as foreign reprints; the sale, by the ton, almost, of the cheap 12mos such as the Porter & Coates Alta series; the stacks of poets scattered far and wide in a measure through the regular book trade, but perhaps in larger proportions through the dry-goods bazaars and similar channels of distribution—all these add up a large volume of business. Meanwhile the book trade of the country, counting in jobbers and retailers, has probably not increased and has apparently decreased. Take for instance the city of Salem, Mass., the home of Hawthorne, Prescott, Bowditch, and of many others who have made American literature famous, a place whence some of the noted publishers in the American trade found their way to Boston and other places, a city of great intellectual activity. In old days it was well supplied with retail stores, some of which grew to be publishing houses. The book trade of Salem has not been displaced by a free public library. It is only within the last year or two that such an institution has been started. Yet only one bookstore of any importance remains in Salem, and that is largely devoted to the sale of wall papers, etc., and expects rather to take orders than to carry any considerable amount of standard books in stock. The live book trade has gone almost entirely into the hands of an enterprising dry-goods house, who are members of the Syndicate Trading Co., and who handle at Christmas time and throughout the year a considerable quantity of books, but could scarcely be relied upon to perform the functions of the old-fashioned bookstore, with its supply of standards on the shelves tempting a customer to increase his library with books that are books. It can scarcely be said that the retail trade has gone to Boston, for the trade of Boston is not so wonderfully larger than it was in old times, and this state of things is more or less true throughout the country. Bookselling and bookbuying have both suffered a decadence in quality as well as in quantity, except in the case of books of exceptional popularity. The size of editions is scarcely larger, if as large, as in the days when we had not a third of our present reading population.

These facts suggest a very interesting question. The trade is there, because our community is a book-reading people. It is peculiarly a trade, however, that needs development by solicitation; books need to be thrust before the eyes of people; they don't get hungry for them three times a day as they do for bread and butter, meat and groceries, tea and coffee. Doubtless the times have changed, and with them the methods of doing business, yet we cannot but believe that publishers and the book trade generally, with this immense possibility of a market before them, could do better than they now do. Are not these suggestions worth consideration by the heads of the trade? We do not believe the difficulty is so incurable but that a remedy can be found.

THESE suggestions are emphasized by the record of this Spring Announcement Number. It furnishes comparatively few books of importance, although there is as usual a fair supply of ingenious devices to tempt the trade. To be sure the trade this year, more than ever before, are putting over their best things and postponing their best efforts until Fall, but here again is a possible opportunity for bettering our conditions. A part of the demoralization of the trade comes from the fact that every one conspires to throw book buying into one or two months of the year. The ideal at which the trade and particularly the heads of the trade should aim is a renaissance of book-buying in which the American public will buy better books and buy them more steadily throughout the year.

THE ALDINE CLUB.

FOR some time a careful observer might have noticed that something was up in the circles of the book trade located about Astor Place. What that something was he never would have guessed. Yet slowly it grew and quietly it opened its little bud on Tuesday evening, March 19, at the Clarendon Hotel, New York City. So quiet had been the progress of the movement that none but the initiated were aware of it, and only by the merest chance did it become public.

On the evening above noted about fifty well-known book-makers—writers, publishers, and printers—among whom were Wm. W. Appleton, Henry C. Bunner, of Puck, Frank H. Scott, treasurer of the Century Co., John S. Wood, William D. Howells, James F. Ruggles, Charles E. Merrill, Arthur H. Scribner, Frederick A. Stokes, Gilman H. Tucker, Henry T. Thomas, George T. Stevens, George R. Carthcart, Charles A. Clapp, Alexander W. Drake, Effingham Maynard, Louis H. Blakeman, Joseph L. Blamire, George E. Brett, Edward L. Burlingame, editor of Scribner's Magazine, Bleecker Van Wagenen, Daniel Appleton, Salter S. Clark, Theodore L. De Vinne, Richard Watson Gilder, Clarence C. Rice, John D. Champlin, jr., Oscar M. Dunham, Orlando Leach, Joseph J. Little and A. D. F. Randolph—met to consider the question of a club organization for the encouragement of literature and art and social intercourse and enjoyment. Mr. James F. Ruggles was chosen to preside and an organization was quickly formed.

The incorporators of the club who were named and who have filed their certificates are W. W. Appleton, H. C. Bunner, George R. Carthcart, Charles E. Merrill, Frank H. Scott, Arthur H. Scribner, H. T. Thomas, J. F. Ruggles, and J. S. Wood. Officers were elected as follows: William W. Appleton, President; Henry C. Bunner, Vice-President; Frank H. Scott, Treasurer; and John S. Wood, Secretary.

Then the following Council was elected: Class of 1890, William D. Howells, James F. Ruggles, Frank H. Scott and John S. Wood; class of 1891, Charles E. Merrill, Arthur H. Scribner, Frederick A. Stokes, and Gilman H. Tucker; class of 1892, William W. Appleton, Henry C. Bunner, Henry T. Thomas, and George T. Stevens; class of 1893, George R. Carthcart, Charles A. Clapp, Alexander W. Drake, and Effingham Maynard.

The committees appointed were: House Committee—Henry T. Thomas, George R. Carthcart, and Charles E. Merrill. Auditing Committee—Effingham Maynard, George T. Stevens, and Gilman H. Tucker. Committee on Literature and Art—James F. Ruggles, Alexander W. Drake, and William D. Howells. Committee on Admissions—Class of 1890, Louis H. Blakeman, Joseph L. Blamire, George E. Brett, Edward L. Burlingame, and Bleecker Van Wagenen; class of 1891, Daniel Appleton, Salter S. Clark, Theodore L. De Vinne, Richard W. Gilder, and Clarence C. Rice; class of 1892, John D. Champlin, jr., Oscar M. Dunham, Orlando Leach, Joseph J. Little, and A. D. F. Randolph.

A constitution was adopted according to which publishers, authors, artists, and professional men who have an interest in literature and art are eligible to membership. The resident membership is limited to 200 and the non-resident membership to 150. Fifty members have already joined and applications are coming in rapidly enough to predict that the limit will shortly be reached.

The meeting was adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. The House Committee has leased for a term of years the house at No. 20 Lafayette Place. Decorators will be put to work at once to make the first two floors inhabitable so that they may be ready for occupancy about April 30, when the inauguration of the club will take place. The next meeting will take place April 13.

PROGRESS OF THE NEW COPYRIGHT LAW IN CANADA.

A DEPUTATION of Toronto publishers waited upon the Minister of Justice and Agriculture, March 17, in connection with Sir John Thompson's Copyright Bill. They desired the clause respecting registration in the proposed amendment to be made a little clearer. The deputation pointed out that under Section 6 of the present Act Chancellor Boyd has lately decided that English editions of books for which copyright has been secured in Canada prior to copyright in Great Britain cannot lawfully be imported into Canada. This decision they think will be offensive to the English publisher, as he will lose the sale of some copies of his expensive editions, and will also be objectionable to the Canadian consumer, who wishes a superior edition to the ordinary Canadian book. They would, therefore, suggest that in the proposed bill Section 6 be altered to read as follows: "Nothing in this act shall be held to prohibit the importation from the United Kingdom of copies of any work lawfully printed there. If any work is reprinted subsequently to this edition in the United Kingdom, any person who has previously to the date of entry of such work upon the registers of copyright imported any foreign reprints may dispose of such reprints by sale or otherwise, but the burden of proof of establishing the extent and regularity of the transaction shall in such case be upon such person." They also urged that it is all-important that registration of copyright or intention to publish should be made, as provided in Section 2 of the Copyright Association petition (as otherwise the Canadian market would be flooded with reprints from the United States), which reads as follows:

The conditions for obtaining such copyright shall be that the said literary, scientific, musical or artistic works shall be printed and published or reprinted and republished in Canada within two months after first publication elsewhere, but in no case shall the said exclusive right and liberty in Canada continue to exist after it has expired in the country of origin.

Any copyright work intended to be republished in Canada under this act shall, before publication elsewhere or simultaneously with its first publication elsewhere, be registered in the office of the Minister of Agriculture by the author or his legal representatives, which registration and compliance with the provisions of Section 2 shall secure the exclusive copyright to the author or his legal representative; and it is also desirable that provision should be made that any person or persons shall be at liberty to register any literary, scientific, musical or artistic work prior to or simultaneously with its publication elsewhere, such registration to prohibit the importation of foreign reprints or reproductions of the work so registered. Should the author or his legal representative of the work in question register in accordance with the terms mentioned above, then all former registrations of intention to publish or reproduce are to be void and the registration of the author or his legal representative entitles him to the exclusive Canadian copyright.

Sir John Thompson, in reply, emphatically stated that he desired to protect the Canadian publisher, and left the deputation under the impression that their amendments would be incorporated in the bill.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF REPRINTING.

From the New York Tribune, March 25.

MR. WARNE'S partner is quoted as saying, apropos of their dispute with Longmans over their respective editions of "John Ward, Preacher": "Though we have made up our disagreement we still maintain that we had a perfect right to publish the cheap edition. You see, my feeling on the point is this—Yankees steal every book we bring out till one is driven absolutely frantic, and when I get a chance to repay them in their own coin, of course I like to take it. It was more this feeling than any other that made us bring the book out at such a low price. We want to return New York publishers tit for tat; but fair's fair. We sent the authoress a check the day we brought out the first edition. Do we anticipate a good sale? Well, I hope so. We have sold out every copy of the first edition, and have orders for thousands more already. Theological and religious books have an enormous sale nowadays. There is an enormous set of readers who love a book of the goody-goody type—ladies read 'em after church; they don't call them novels—but there is a tremendous improvement in the taste of the reading public for books of the thoughtful order, like 'Robert Elsmere' and 'John Ward.' As these grow more popular Ouida and Miss Bradon's second-rate works will die out. Taste in books is higher now than it ever has been, and I think it will get better year by year."

OBITUARY.

CORNELIUS MATHEWS, dramatist, journalist, and publisher, died March 25 in New York City, aged 75 years. He was born in Port Chester, Westchester County, October 28, 1817. He was the founder of the first really popular comic journal in this city—Yankee Doodle. Fifty years ago Mr. Mathews began writing plays, and he may be said to have been the father of the American drama. His first play was "The Politicians," a satire. This was followed in rapid succession by many other pieces, which in their time aroused the enthusiasm of the audiences of Burton's Chambers Street Theatre and the Old Park. With the late Evert A. Duyckinck he was the originator of the Literary World, the pioneer literary and book-trade journal of this country, and he was the founder of Arcturus, a monthly magazine. Mr. Mathews was an active and enthusiastic worker in the cause of copyright, and that the old Copyright Club was founded was largely due to his efforts and those of William Cullen Bryant, who became in 1843 the first President of the club.

JOHN W. MOORE, an old-time publisher and author of musical works, died in Manchester, N. H., on March 23, aged 82 years. He was a native of Andover, Mass., and completed his apprenticeship at the printing business in Concord. Among the many journalistic enterprises in which Mr. Moore was engaged was Moore's Musical Record, which, however, like his other journals, had but a short existence. He was an ardent advocate of music and art and wrote and published a number of works on music.

JERROLD GRIFFIN, one of the representatives of Cassell & Company's Eastern subscription department, was thrown from a horse in Roxbury, Mass., on the 20th of March, and died from the effects of injuries received, in Boston, on the 22d inst.

DESCRIPTIVE SUMMARY OF THE SPRING ANNOUNCEMENTS.

THE descriptive summary which here follows presents as usual, in its alphabetical arrangement by publishers, a survey of the entire field, so far as the necessary information is at hand. Other books, not yet fully determined upon, will find mention in subsequent issues. In our announcement lists proper, the books will be found arranged by classes, while the advertising pages will afford further detailed information as to prices, sizes, styles, etc.

ALLYN & BACON have in preparation "A German Reader," by H. C. G. Branot; Schiller's "Der Neffe als Onkel," with notes by C. F. Raddatz; and "Xenophon's Anabasis," by F. W. Kelsey.

D. APPLETON & Co. have planned their spring publications with discriminating taste. A new book by Mr. O. B. Bunce, entitled "The Story of Happinoland and other Legends," is just issued in the Gainsborough Series. It consists of four slight sketches—"The Story of Happinoland," (which, being translated, is Happy-no-land), "A Millionaire's Millions," "The City Beautiful," and "John's Attic," all of which, the latter, however, only slightly, involve questions in social science. Ducondray's "Histoire Sommaire de la Civilisation" has been translated, edited, and revised by Rev. J. Verschoyle and will appear in two parts, the "History of Ancient Civilization" being nearly ready, and the "History of Modern Civilization" to follow shortly. "The Primitive Family in its Origin and Development," by C. A. Starcke, will be added to their International Scientific Series; and "How to Study Geography," by Francis W. Parker, will be put in the International Education Series. "The Ice Age of North America and the Antiquity of Man," by Prof. G. Frederick Wright, will have numerous illustrations. The editor of "Science Gossip," Dr. J. Taylor, has prepared "The Playtime Naturalist," which will have upwards of three hundred illustrations. "A Treatise on Coöperative Savings and Loan Associations," by Seymour Dexter, will also be ready immediately. A new edition of Darwin's "Structure and Distribution of Coral Reefs" is also making ready. In fiction a treat is promised in a new story by Maxwell Grey, to be called "The Reproach of Annesley," said to be of equal merit with his fine novel, "The Silence of Dean Maitland;" Justin McCarthy and Mrs. Campbell-Praed have put together "The Ladies' Gallery;" "The Garden's Story" is by George H. Ellwanger; and "Grandfather's Stories," by the late James Johnnot, adds another pretty work to the series of Historic Reading Books.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON steadily carry on their "Sermon Bible," which is under the general supervision of the editor of the Clerical Library. The new series, to comprise 12 volumes, embracing all the books of the Old and New Testaments, will give in convenient form the essence of the best homiletic literature of this generation. The first issued, Genesis to II. Samuel, was a specimen of the plan of the whole work. Under each text is given: 1. Outlines of important sermons by eminent preachers existing only in manuscript or periodicals, and thus inaccessible. 2. Less full outlines of sermons which have appeared in volumes which are not well known or easily obtained. 3. References to or very brief outlines of sermons which appear in popular volumes such as are likely to be in a preacher's library. 4. Full references to theological treatises, commentaries, etc., where any help is given to the elucidation of the text. Each volume contains at the end 24 blank pages for memorandum notes. It will be published at the rate of two volumes a year. Three volumes of the second series of the "Expositor's Bible" are ready, and during March and April three more will appear. The Rt. Rev. W. Alexander, Lord Bishop of Derry and Raphoe, has treated "The Epistles of St. John;" Rev. Marcus Dods, "The First Epistle to the Corinthians;" and Rev. Prof. William Milligan, of the University of Aberdeen, the "Book of Revelation." Rev. W. Robertson Nicoll is the general editor. A valuable book for clerical libraries will be Dr. Charles Elliott's "Old Testament Prophecy," treating of the nature and connection of the prophecy with Old Testament history, Messianic prophecy, and New Testament fulfilment. Another announcement is the Rev. Carroll Cutter's book on "The Beginning of Ethics."

C. W. BARDEEN's announcements will be found in full under the heading of Education, Language, etc., in the classified list in this issue.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will bring out their long-promised "The Three Germanies," by Theo. S. Fay, in a handsome two-volume edition. Mr. Fay has devoted the last thirteen years to writing this history, and it will be a work of world-wide interest. "Songs of Praise for Social and Sabbath Worship," and "The People's Praise Book," a Baptist collection of hymns and tunes edited by Henry M. Sanders and George A. Lorimer, are two well-chosen collections of sacred music. The other announcements of this house will be found in full under the heading of Education, Language, etc., in the classified list in this issue.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co. announce several valuable works for spring publication, of which full titles will be found in our classified list in this issue, under Medical Science.

BRENTANO's announce the second volume in their Romantic Library. It will contain three novelettes by Alfred de Musset: "Margot," "The Beauty Spot," and "Croisilles," and also a two-act comedy called "Valentine's Wager." "The Romance of an Alter Ego," by Lloyd S. Bryce, is promised to be witty; and "Frederick Struthers's Romance," by Albert Ulmann, is to be an ingenious love-story which takes place in New York life. Readers of sporting tastes will look forward to a new book by Kit Clarke called "Where the Trout Hide," containing descriptions of an easily accessible and beautiful country whose waters teem with brook trout, black bass, and land-locked salmon.

A. L. BURT, New York, has in press additions to his Manhattan Series of popular American novels, the titles of which will be found in the department of Fiction in the classified list elsewhere in this issue.

C. N. CASPAR, Milwaukee, Wis., is making satisfactory progress with his excellent "Directory of American Book, News, and Stationery Trade, and kindred branches." At this writing 816 pages have already been printed, completing the first two parts—Alphabetical list of the firms, and the Digest of the trade lists of the American Book Publishers, and carrying the Geographical classification through the State of Missouri. The rest of the work is in an advanced state, and in a very few weeks the whole work ought to be ready for subscribers.

CASELL & COMPANY are not yet prepared to make announcement of spring publications beyond a number of novels, which will be found grouped under the heading of Fiction in the classified list elsewhere in this issue.

THE CENTURY COMPANY expects to have ready in May the first section of "The Century Dictionary," which has already been fully described in our issue for January 19 of this year. Twenty-four sections (which are expected to appear monthly) will complete the work, which can afterward be bound into six volumes, four sections to a volume. The retail price of the sections will be $2.50 each, and the cost of binding volumes afterward in full sheep will be $5 each, that is $60 for the sections, and $30 for binding them. Subscriptions will be taken for the bound volumes in full cloth at $10 or $60 for the set, and in full sheep at $15 or $90 for the set. This work seems to us to afford a wide and paying field for booksellers to work up as agents.

CUPPLES & HURD announce quite a number of forthcoming books. In the department of description there will be a new volume by W. H. H. Murray, to be called "Adventures in the Wilderness; or, camp life in the Adirondacks;" "Glimpses of Norseland," by Hetta M. Hervey, with many illustrations; "Pleasant Hours in Sunny Lands in a Tour Around the World," by Isaac Newton Lewis; and "Jewish Portraits," by Lady Magnus. Fiction will be represented by "Cleopatra's Daughter," a romance of a bunch of roses, by William Armstrong; "The Sphinx in Aubrey Parish," by N. H. Chamberlain, a novel of religious tendency, the actors being chiefly members of the Anglican communion; "The Romance of a Shop," by Amy Levy, a story of four sisters who are left without parents or money and are obliged to work with heads and hands in their little shop to make ends meet; and "Silken Threads," a detective story, by the author of "Mr. and Mrs. Morton," which will appear in the Green Paper Series. Francis E. Cooke has written "The Story of Theodore Parker" and furnished it with a valuable bibliography; and Maria I. Dodge has prepared a book of poems under the name of "Echoes from Cape Ann." "Aunt Nabby, Her Rambles, Her Adventures, and Her Notions," is an amusing book by Miss Peleg Newsby full of quaint remarks and kindly lessons. Three medical works will be issued: "The Diagnosis and Medical Treatment of Acute Intestinal Obstruction" and "Acute Pancreatitis," both by Dr. Reginald H. Fitz, of Harvard University; and "Diet in Relation to Age and Activity," by Sir Henry Thompson. Prof. Charles Carroll Everett has written the "Science of Thought," in which he considers thought in its completeness, seeking to determine its problems and limits, a book calculated to stir up the reader's brains and make him do some quiet thinking.

JOHN DELAY has nearly ready another volume in his series of Gleanings from Foreign Authors entitled "The Grisette," by Viscount Valrose.

DE WOLFE, FISKE & Co. announce a "National Kindergarten Manual," by Mrs. Louise Pollock, consisting of practical model lessons, rules and lectures for kindergartens and nurseries, useful for parents and teachers.

DODD, MEAD & Co.'s announcements show the familiar names of Besant and Rice, Amelia E. Barr, and the lamented E. P. Roe. An edition of the famous novels produced in partnership by the late Mr. Rice and the still active Mr. Besant will be issued in a uniform paper edition at low price for summer loungers. A paper edition is also promised of Mrs. Barr's "John Vedder's Wife," and a cloth edition in a new size of "The Last of the Macallisters," and "Between Two Loves." Lovers of E. P. Roe and of gardening will rejoice in a new volume, chiefly from his Harper papers, called "The Home Acre," showing the possibilities to be obtained in the way of shrubs, lawns, trees, small fruit, kitchen vegetables, etc., from one acre around the home. This will be uniform with the Library edition of E. P. Roe's works; a paper edition of "Miss Lou" will also be made ready. A scholarly work by Bayard Tuckerman will be issued in "The Life of General Lafayette," giving a critical estimate of his character and public acts, of special interest in view of the historical reminiscences in this centennial year of Washington's inauguration. The work will be in two volumes with several portraits. Mrs. R. W. Felkin has translated "Emin Pasha in Central Africa," a collection of his letters and journals, edited and annotated by Prof. G. Schweinfurth, Prof. F. Ratzel, Dr. G. Hartlaub, and the translator's husband, Dr. R. W. Felkin; and Charles Somerville Latrobe Bateman, for some time in the gendarmerie of the Congo Free State, has written a record of service under the Lone Star, which will be issued as "The Ascent of Kasai."

WARREN F. DRAPER, Andover, Mass., will issue shortly two works of interest to theologians. The first is "A Critical and Grammatical Commentary on St. Paul's First Epistle to the Corinthians," by Charles J. Ellicott, Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol, England, and the second "A Defence of the Catholic Faith Concerning the Satisfaction of Christ Against Faustus Socinus," by Hugo Grotius, translated with notes and an historical introduction by Frank Hugh Foster, Professor of Church History in the Theological Seminary at Oberlin.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have a goodly list of monotint booklets sure of sale at Easter and for birthday gifts throughout the year. Eighteen of these pretty souvenirs are specially adapted to Easter and bear all the familiar titles and show all the pretty flowers of the joyous resurrection season. In birthday books there is a new departure; they are intended as a gift on birthdays, to be read and admired but not written in. They are gotten up in leaf shape, pansy shape, fan shape, and round and square embossed card covers. A packet of twelve booklets, to be used as general gifts on any social occasion, is called "Gifts and Graces," and a packet of three little beauties is called floral tokens. No one need be told in 1889 what pretty booklets this house furnishes, worthy little ornaments for their beautiful N. Y. City emporium.

ESTES & LAURIAT make several interesting announcements. For young people they will have "Queen Hildegard," by Laura E. Richards, author of "Four Feet, Two Feet, and No Feet," a helpful story for girls, written with taste and spirit, and a new edition of Fannie Belle Irving's ever charming "Six Girls," illustrated by Frank T. Merrill. Two pretty books that may be used as Easter souvenirs are "Giotto's Sheep," by Mary E. Waller, a story of Florence, and "The Rosebush of Hildesheim," by the same author, a delightful story of an old German cathedral city, each illustrated with photo-etchings and daintily bound. "The Finger of Fortune" is a guide-book to palmistry by Eveline M. Farwell, a pocket manual to this interesting and fashionable science; and a "Dream of Love and Fire," by a dreamer, an interesting psychological study with five photo-etchings.

THE FERGUS PRINTING CO., Chicago, have issued No. 29 in their Historical Series, including the "Biographical Sketch of Joseph Duncan," fifth governor of Illinois, which was read before the Historical Society of Jacksonville, Ill., May 7, 1885, by Julia Duncan Kirby. The book is illustrated. They have also ready "The Goodrich Family in America," a genealogy of the descendants of the American representatives, together with a short historical account of the family in England, the origin of the name, a description of Goodrich Castle, etc., edited by Dr. Lafayette Wallace Case.

FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT, who have made some recent successes in volumes of sermons—especially A. H. Bradford's "Spirit and Life" and the four new Beecher volumes (of 1873-5)—will issue in March "Living Questions: Studies in Nature and Grace," by Rev. Warren Hathaway, promising vigorous treatment of live topics of the day.

FUNK & WAGNALLS will issue "Latin Hymn-Writers and Their Hymns," by the late Rev. Samuel W. Duffield, edited and completed by Rev. Dr. R. E. Thompson, of the University of Pennsylvania, with copious index. This work is of that critical character that required for its production a combination of classical knowledge and exquisite poetic taste. The book will be much appreciated by ministers, teachers, authors, and editors, and all who are interested in hymnology and the biography of the hymn-writers, and by all lovers of poetry.

GEbbie & Co., Philadelphia, announce a new edition of "The Imitation of Christ," by Thomas A' Kempis, newly translated, handsomely printed with artistic borders, and illustrated with twenty photogravure plates, of subjects chiefly from the old masters in the gallery of the Louvre; "The Laughing Philosopher in the Middle of the 19th Century," a volume of "rare fun and pleasant philosophy," treating of medicine, law, smoking, drinking, etc., edited by Alfred Crowquill, with 140 illustrations; and a political satire of modern times, entitled "Solid for Mulhooly," by Rufus E. Shapley, with ten full-page illustrations designed expressly for the work by Thomas Nast.

GINN & Co.'s list of spring announcements will be found under the heading of Education, Language, etc., in the classified list elsewhere in this issue.

S. C. GRIGGS & Co. announce several new editions of old books, which is after all one of the most satisfactory forms of announcement. For every book that begins a second edition means a profit to the publisher as well as a pledge of intrinsic merit. "Shall We Teach Geology?" is one of the newest entries in their catalogue. In it Alexander Winchell makes a special plea for teaching geology in public schools, and also covers the ground of the relative value in education of the classics and the sciences.

HARPER & BROS. expect to publish in the near future the second volume of "My Autobiography and Reminiscences," by W. P. Frith, the well-known English artist and R. A., who confides to the world the many ups and downs of his life, his means and methods of study, together with much interesting matter arising from circumstances connecting him with men and things with whom and with which he came in contact in the progress of his life and work. The first volume appeared in December, 1887, and possessors will be glad to know they may soon expect the continuation. Next in importance is a third edition of Prof. C. K. Adams' "A Manual of Historical Literature," which has been revised and enlarged by the busy President of Cornell University and made even more valuable than before to students, general readers, and collectors of books. It comprises brief descriptions of the most important histories in English, French, and German, together with practical suggestions as to methods and courses of historical study, written from the standpoint of an experienced teacher devoted to his subject. The indefatigable editor, W. J. Rolfe, has prepared for the Series of English Classics for Home and School, "Fair Tales in Prose and Verse," selected from the works of standard authors and supplied with valuable literary notes. Another story for which the Civil War furnishes the background has been written by the popular Capt. Charles King and is called "Between the Lines." Lee Meriwether, whose "Tramp Trip Through Europe" was so successful, now Special Agent of the U. S. Department of Labor, has studied the conditions of American laboring life and relates many incidents, amusing and otherwise, which befel him while gathering information for the Department, calling his book "The Tramp at Home." The several clever farces which Mr. W. D. Howells has published from time to time will be put into one volume, which will be entitled "The Mouse-Trap and Other Farces," and will contain besides the title story "The Garroters," "Five O'clock Tea," and "A Likely Story." Miss Henrietta C. Wright, who has made quite a success of her talent for making historical and scientific facts interesting to young minds in the form of stories, has now written some out-and-out fiction to be called "Princess Liliwinkins and Other Stories," and to be published with illustrations. The last announcement is a new volume in the Harper's Young People Series, by George B. Perry, telling of "Uncle Peter's Trust."

D. C. HEATH & Co.'s list of spring announcements will be found under the heading of Education, Language, etc., in the classified list elsewhere in this issue.

HENRY HOLT & Co. announce a new novel by Mrs. Alexander, called "A Crooked Path;" "Esther Denison," a new novel, by Adeline Sergeant, and "Jerry," a new American novel. Francis A. Walker, President of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, has prepared "An Elementary Political Economy," with simple instruction on this inexhaustible subject. The house has a good long list of educational books forthcoming, dealing particularly with the acquiring of foreign languages. Full titles of these books may be found in our classified list under the heading Education, Language, etc.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co.'s Spring list is distributed over many departments of literature, but does not number many titles in any single department. In Biography the promise is good, including Mr. Lodge's work on George Washington, in two volumes, in the Series of American Statesmen; the "Life and Correspondence of Richard H. Dana, Jr.," by Charles Francis Adams, also in two volumes; "Emerson in Concord," by Dr. Edward W. Emerson; and "The Story of William and Mary Smith," by Geo. S. Merriam. William Smith was the author of several books, the best known of which is "Thorndale, or, the conflict of opinions." In History there will be a new book by John Fiske, entitled "The Beginnings of New England, or, the Puritan theocracy in its relations to civil and religious liberty," some portions of which, if not all, have been given as lectures by Mr. Fiske in different parts of the country, but none of which have been printed; and "The Constitutional History and Government of the United States," by Mr. Justice J. S. Landon, of the Superior Court of New York. This last will form an octavo volume, and from the learning and eminence of the author can hardly fail to command attention among thoughtful people. In the department of Fiction "The Open Door," the new story by Miss Blanche Willis Howard, author of "Guenn," "One Summer," etc., is likely to be one of the most popular stories of the season. Its announcement has called forth a good deal of expectant interest, and as the author is now in the zenith of her powers the public has a right to anticipate work of no ordinary value. Prof. Hardy's "Passe Rose," which ends in the April Atlantic, and which has attracted much more than expected attention while appearing serially, promises to add to the reputation which the author gained by his previous stories, "But Yet a Woman," and "The Wind of Destiny." Two religious books are announced, "The Immanent God and Other Sermons," seven thoughtful, devout discourses preached by Rev. A. W. Jackson at Santa Barbara, California; and "The Way: the nature and means of revelation," a noteworthy book quite in the line of what is known as the "New Theology, or, progressive orthodoxy," by Prof. John F. Weir, of New Haven. Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith's "A White Umbrella in Mexico" is sure to be popular on account of his freshness and vivacity of narration, the curious and interesting nature of his observations, and the numerous pictures with which he has himself illustrated it. The "Satchel Guide for Vacation Tourists in Europe," which has had many years of prosperity, each year adding to its reputation as a reliable and trustworthy guide, is to be entirely remade, so that it will be more attractive than ever before. Other books are: "Profit Sharing Between Employer and Employee;" a study in the evolution of the wages system, by Nicholas Paine Gilman, a work which has been very heartily commended by such authorities as President Walker, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Hon. Carroll D. Wright, of the National Bureau of Statistics, and others. "The Works of Rowland Gibson Hazard," of Rhode Island, in four volumes, edited by his grand-daughter, Miss Caroline Hazard, and containing a large variety of papers on philosophical, educational, political, and economic subjects—papers marked by great clearness and force of thought, and eminently worthy of the attention of students of the various topics to which they refer; "Reviews of Botanical Works of Fifty Years," by the late Prof. Asa Gray, who was unsurpassed in his specialty by any one of his time, edited by Prof. Chas. S. Sargent; "Prolegomena and Index to In Memoriam," by Thomas Davidson, well known as a profound and critical scholar, who has in this book furnished admirable introductory notes to Tennyson's greatest poem, and added to it an Index which will be found very serviceable; a book on "Home Gymnastics," by two eminent German experts, a work which has gone through eight editions in Germany, and is now translated by Mr. Barthold Schlesinger, a well-known business man of Boston; a "Holmes Birthday Book," containing selections from the prose and poetical works of Dr. Holmes, arranged on the same plan as the popular Longfellow, Whittier, and Lowell Birthday Books; and a new (fourth) edition of the standard work on "Mortgages of Real Property," by Leonard A. Jones.

H. P. HUBBARD, New Haven, Conn., will issue almost immediately a work comprising treatises on the law governing trade-marks, libel, patents and copyrights, containing more than 1000 illustrations of trade-marks, seals, brands, water-marks, heraldry, etc., besides lists of leading newspapers and periodicals and other important data for advertisers. It will be entitled "The Blue-Book of the Trade-Mark Law of All Countries."

THE INTERSTATE PUBLISHING CO. announces new editions of "Gilman's Historical Readers," first published in July, 1887. The books have met with approval in schools and libraries. The three volumes deal respectively with "The Discovery and Exploration of America," "The Colonization of America," and "The Making of the American Nation." The volumes are based on the latest and best authorities, and all have good indices. The publishers also announce the "Interstate Second Reader," to follow "The Interstate Primer and First Reader," edited by Kate L. Brown, whose work has given such satisfaction to teachers of primary departments; and call attention to their series about authors, now including "Favorite Authors for Little Folks," by Mrs. Frances A. Humphrey; "English Authors for Young Folks," and "American Authors for Young Folks," by Amanda B. Harris, three books providing school children with charming pictures of well-known writers.

JOHN IRELAND, N. Y., will issue shortly a brief sketch of the life of George Ainsley, one of the missionaries of the Home Board in the far West. The biography is penned by Anna Warner, who calls her little tribute "A Servant of the King."

WILLIAM R. JENKINS has under way several of his pretty French stories and novels suitable for class and home reading. To his Romans Choisis he will add "Vaillante," by Jacques Vincent, a story crowned by the Academie, which has also received the Montyon prize; and "Le Tour du Monde," by Jules Verne; to his Contes Choisis he will add "L'Autilage de la Marquise," an amusing story by Leon Tinseau. "Le Cid," by Corneille, and Molière's "Bourgeois Gentilhomme," annotated by Schele de Vere, will also be ready. A treatise on the gender of French nouns, by V. F. Bernard, will be found useful by students still struggling with feminine forks and masculine knives. It is in French, and entitled "Le Genre des Noms." "French Verbs at a Glance," by Mariot de Beauvoisin, has reached a second edition. "Notre Dame de Paris," with the illustrations of the édition de luxe, will also be brought out in two volumes. In Mr. Jenkins' other specialty, veterinary literature, he announces as almost ready "Roaring in Horses," by Dr. George Fleming.

JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY, through its publication agency, will issue in April and May "The City Government of New Orleans," by Judge William W. Howe; "A New England Village Community," being a study of Wethersfield, Windsor, and Hartford, by Charles M. Andrews; "The Gilmer Letters," by William P. Trent, Professor of History and English in the University of the South, giving an account of the English professors obtained by Gilmer and Jefferson for the University of Virginia; and the "Local Constitutional History of the United States," by George E. Howard, Professor of History in the University of Nebraska, divided into two volumes, the first covering the development of the township, hundred, and shire, and the second the development of the city and the local magistrates. Particular attention has been given to a most valuable bibliography brought down to date.

T. & J. W. JOHNSON & Co., Philadelphia, have in press a number of law-books which will be found under the heading of Law, Government, etc., in the classified list elsewhere in this issue.

THE ORANGE JUDD Co. will issue shortly a new, revised, and greatly enlarged illustrated edition of "Peach Culture," by James Alexander Fulton, of Dover, Del., and "The Family Horse: Its Stabling, Care, and Feeding," an illustrated practical manual for horsekeepers, by George A. Martin.

THE JUDGE PUBLISHING Co. promise two novels for the approaching season of dolce far niente, one by Mrs. Oliphant, entitled "Lady Car: the sequel of a life," and the other by H. T. Johnson, devoted to "The Jack of Hearts."

CHARLES H. KERR & Co., Chicago, will have ready in June "A Study for a New View of Faith," by James Vila Blake, who has the courage to join the ranks of the many already discussing their various views of intellectual, emotional, absolute, and other faiths. He divides his work into three parts, to make about a hundred pages. The author has already published "Essays and Poems," and his appreciative readers will no doubt enjoy his exposition of a faith which, in common with all faiths, is the true one to the one who holds it.

LEA BROS. & Co.'s announcements will be found in full under the heading of Medical Science in the classified list elsewhere in this issue.

LEE & SHEPARD will bring out several books that can be used with profit in high schools. "An Hour With Delsarte," by Anna Morgan, teacher of elocution in the Chicago Conservatory, presents in compact form the principles of the great French orator, and is furnished with full-page original drawings showing the graces and faults of gestures as helps to expression. "George Riddle's Readings" presents a choice selection of pieces for students at exhibitions and also for public readers, all having been used with great success by Mr. Riddle. An admirable historic narrative which can be used to good effect as a text-book will be Samuel Adams Drake's "Decisive Events in American History—Burgoyne's Invasion of 1777, with an Outline Sketch of the American Invasion of Canada, 1775-6." Also of value for business colleges especially will be "Every-Day Business," by M. S. Emery, giving careful instruction on business subjects, being designed for ready reference by young business men. "Observation Lessons in the Primary Schools," by Louisa P. Hopkins, is also forthcoming. Two excellent descriptive works are promised in "All about Pasadena," in which Charles Frederick Holder tells in his delightful way all about Los Angeles County in South California, supplying valuable information on climate, missions, trails, fruits, flowers, game, etc.; and "Incidents of a Collector's Rambles in Australia, New Zealand, and New Guinea," by Sherman F. Denton, artist to the United States Fish Commission, who has himself made the illustrations that make clear his interesting narrative. For the fast approaching Easter season this house, as always, provides tastefully and liberally. The old favorites have been freshened up and several new ones added. Miss Jerome's pretty volumes are in Easter dress, and among the new-comers sure of favor are "Arise, My Soul, Arise," "See the Land Her Easter Keeping," "Gladness of Easter," "Faith's Festivals," Easter Carols, Roundels, etc., etc.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. will show the trade early in May specimen copies of a magnificent quarto edition of "Pierre and Jean," for which they have completed arrangements with Messrs. Boussod, Valadon & Co., of Paris. The book will be a fac-simile of the French edition, the illustrations by Ernest Duez and Albert Lynch, being printed by Boussod, Valadon & Co. for the copyrighted American translation. Early in April will be published the first volume of the "Cyclopædia of Diseases of Children," by American, British, and Canadian authors, edited by John M. Keating. It will be in four imperial volumes and sold only by subscription. Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, who like Dr. Hammond enjoys fame as novelist as well as physician, has written a new story of life in the lumber regions, entitled "Far in the Forest," which describes life among very interesting people. Among other works of fiction the house announces a new translation by Miss Wister from the German of E. Werner, which she calls "The Alpine Fay," and which is a story composed in the felicitous manner that marks all her adaptations from the German. "A Demoralizing Marriage," by Edgar Fawcett, will form No. 4 in the series of American Novels, and Amélie Rives, who owes her great popularity to the talk made by a story published in Lippincott's Magazine, has furnished another novel entitled "The Witness of the Sun," which will appear simultaneously as complete novel in the magazine and in book-form.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. announce several new works of law, full titles of which may be found in our classified list under Law, Government, etc.

LOCKWOOD & COOMBES (formerly George J. Coombes) have added to their literary treasures a new translation of "The Philobiblon" of Richard de Bury, by Ernest C. Thomas, of which only 750 copies are printed for England and America; and a new volume of essays on literary subjects by W. Davenport Adams, called "By-ways in Book-Land," in which the author leaves the great highways of English literature travelled by all, and wanders with kindred curious and studious spirits, beguiling the way with trifles about men and books, such as heredity in song, sermons in flowers, paper-knife pleasures, postscripts, etc. Another tidbit for literary epicures will be J. Rogers Rees' new compilation which he calls "The Brotherhood of Letters," chapters on notable meetings of literary men, brought together with well-trying skill in Mr. Rees' quaint and happy way. Daintiness and fitness are well-known characteristics of the books of this firm.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. cover biography, description, education, domestic economy, history, politics, etc., in their literature for the coming season. Biography will be represented in the "Life of C. B. Vignolles," compiled by his son, O. J. Vignolles, giving an accurate account of the busy civil engineer who began work in South Carolina in 1817, surveyed and mapped Florida, served in the English army in the war of 1814, was engaged on the first English and Irish railways and as chief engineer of railways in Germany and other countries, was collaborator with Mr. Ericsson, and all his life has been at the head of great railroad systems. In description there will be "Notes of My Journey Round the World," by Evelyn Cecil, with full-page illustrations; in domestic economy there will be two cook-books by Mrs. de Salis, entitled "Puddings and Pastry à la mode" and "Cakes and Confections à la mode;" and education will have "Longmans' New Atlas;" a new volume of Prof. Witt's Classical Series for the Young devoted to "The Retreat of the Ten Thousand," being the story of Xenophon's "Anabasis," and Part VIII. of "Old and New Astronomy," by Richard A. Proctor, for some time delayed owing to Mr. Proctor's death, but now put into competent hands and to be finished in volumes appearing at intervals of two months. In history we are promised Vol. II. of Mr. Gardiner's "History of the Great Civil War," covering the years from 1644-1647. The literary works will be "Characters in Macbeth," extracted from "Studies of Shakespeare," by George Fletcher, published in 1847; and "Literary Workers, or, pilgrims to the temple of fame," by John George Hargreaves; and a translation in verse by James Adey Birds of the second part of Goethe's "Faust." Political announcements outnumber those in other fields and include "On Parliamentary Government in England," by Alpheus Todd; "Lord Randolph Churchill's Speeches," from 1880 to 1888; "Russia in Central Asia in 1888," by Hon. George Curzon; "Cardinal Lavigerie and Slavery in Africa," by the Cardinal himself; "The Theory of Credit," by Henry Dunning Macleod, and "War with Crime," by the late T. Barwick Baker, edited by Herbert Philips and Edmund Verney. "The Diseases of Children," by Dr. Henry Ashby, will be suitable for practitioners and senior students, and "A Handbook of Cryptogamic Botany," by A. W. Bennett and George R. Milne Murray, will include all the recent discoveries and observations.

THE D. LOTHROP CO. have already in hand a large list of new publications for 1889. These include the names of such favorite authors as J. T. Trowbridge, Margaret Sidney, J. L. Alden, "Pansy," Willis Boyd Allen, H. H. Clark, E. E. Hale, Marion Harland, Elbridge S. Brooks, H. H. Boyesen, and Emma L. Connelly. The larger portion of this new list will be reserved for fall issue, but the spring announcements of the Company are interesting and attractive. Professor Boyesen's volume of short stories entitled "Vagabond Tales" will be one of these early issues, as will also Martha Livingston Moody's story, "Alan Thorne," written as an "antidote" to "Robert Elsmere," and said to be a strong book. Margaret Sidney's "Little Red Shop" is a capital story for "business boys," brim full of racy New England life. Mrs. Alden ("Pansy") and her choicest associates have a characteristic volume in "A Sevenfold Trouble;" "Tom's Street," by Mrs. S. R. Graham-Clarke, is a charming story of young endeavor, by the author of the popular "Yensie Walton" books. John L. Heaton has prepared a vivid and practical sketch of the Green Mountain State in his "Story of Vermont," the fourth in the excellent Story of the States Series which this house is issuing under the editorial supervision of Elbridge S. Brooks. The removal of the entire Lothrop establishment to larger quarters and the extensive alterations under way in their Washington Street salesrooms, have necessarily delayed some of the books underlined for spring issue, but the books here enumerated are already nearly prepared for the market, and will make a most attractive beginning of the extensive work marked out by the D. Lothrop Company for 1889.

FRANK F. LOVELL & Co., N. Y., have in press Mrs. Mona Caird's novel, "The Wing of Azrael." Mrs. Mona Caird, it will be remembered, started afresh a short time ago the question, "Is Marriage a Failure?" by her letters to the London Telegraph and later in the Westminster Review. This is her first novel and will embody her arguments on the subject of marriage and divorce.

MACMILLAN & Co. announce a new and cheaper edition of "The Journal Intime of Henri Frédéric Amiel," translated with introduction and notes by Mrs. Humphrey Ward. Other important biographies will shortly be added to their English Men of Action Series, which was begun with "General Gordon," by Colonel Sir William Butler. The authors of this series are about as important as their subjects and have been chosen with nice judgment. "David Livingstone," by Thomas Hughes, will appear in April; "Lord Lawrence," by Sir Richard Temple, in May; "The Duke of Wellington," by Mr. George Hooper, in June. Thirteen more volumes are in active preparation and will receive detailed announcement later on. "An Author's Love," the unpublished letters of Prosper Mérimée's "Inconnue," will be brought out in two volumes. In fiction there will be novels by two distinguished Americans, now almost identified with foreigners, Henry James and F. Marion Crawford. Mr. James will publish "A London Life," and Mr. Crawford "Greifenstein." Of scientific interest will be "Darwinism," by Alfred Russell Wallace, a systematic exposition of the theory of natural selection; "Modern Views of Electricity," by Oliver J. Lodge, an addition to the Nature Series; and "The Bacteria in Asiatic Cholera," by E. Klein, lecturer in St. Bartholomew's Hospital and at the College of State Medicine, London. "A Syllabus of Modern Plane Geometry," by the Rev. John J. Milne, is a valuable addition to mathematical text-books. The Honorable Sir Francis R. Sandford has edited the late Matthew Arnold's "Reports on Elementary Schools, 1852-1882," and students of educational problems will rejoice in getting at a mass of fact and helpful logic sifted by a careful hand. The second part of Sir John Lubbock's "Pleasures of Life," and "Literature in its Social Aspects," by Aubrey De Vere, represent literary treats to the initiated. The field of religion will be enriched by "Supernatural Religion," by the Rev. J. B. Lightfoot, Bishop of Durham, consisting of the series of papers contributed to the Contemporary Review, and "Gifts for Ministry," by Brooke Foss Westcott, Canon of Westminster, addresses delivered to candidates for the ministry. "The Duke of Wellington's Plan," by Hon. S. Dana Horton, once more dissects the motives and glorifies the success of the hero of Waterloo.

JOEL MUNSELL'S SONS, Albany, N. Y., will add to their genealogical and historical publications "The Fillow, Philo, and Philleo Family," descendants of John Fillow, a Huguenot, who settled in Norwalk, Ct., about 1700, written by D. H. Van Hoosear, and furnished with portraits and plates, coats of arms, and exhaustive indices; "Lindsay Genealogy," by Margaret Isabella Lindsay, beginning with the family of the earliest settler in the mother State, Virginia, and including all the Lindsays of America; "Weeks Genealogy," by Jacob Chapman, beginning with Leonard Weeks, of Greenland, N. H., 1667; "Bouton-Boughton Genealogy," by James Boughton, enumerating the descendants of John, who came to Boston in 1635; the second volume of "Boston Epitaphs," in which W. H. Whitmore writes of the Granary Burial Grounds; and the third volume of their "American Ancestry," giving the name and descent in the male line of Americans whose ancestors settled in the United States prior to 1776.

JOHN MURPHY & Co., Baltimore, Md., announce a new volume by Cardinal Gibbons, entitled "Our Christian Heritage," and a new edition of the "Holy Way of the Cross," published with his approbation; two volumes of "Notes on Doctrinal and Spiritual Subjects," by Dr. Frederick William Faber, and a fourth edition of his "Poems." Other books of interest to devout Catholics will be "Catholic Church and Christian State," translated from the German of Cardinal Joseph Hergenroether, Archivist of the Vatican; and "Manual of the Holy Face," translated from the French of the Rev. Abbé Janvier, published with the approbation of the Archbishop of Tours.

THE NATIONAL SCHOOL OF ELOCUTION AND ORATORY, Phila., announce No. 17 of their "Elocutionist's Annual." The entire series is being revised and enlarged, and new editions of Nos. 1 and 2 are just ready, each containing from thirty to forty pages of new selections. A revised and enlarged edition of Ward's "Base Ball" is also in press. The Normal Publishing Co. has been moved from Lancaster, Pa., to the same building with The National School, and Mr. Charles C. Shoemaker becomes its manager. Reductions in price have been made in "Normal Methods of Teaching," "Mental Science and Culture" and "Philosophy of Arithmetic," and several new educational works are in preparation.

THE NATIONAL TEMPERANCE SOC. AND PUB. HOUSE have in press "Alcohol in Society," a $500 prize essay by Rev. Dr. Richard Eddy; and two stories, "The Lost Cheque," by Miss Elizabeth Cheal, and "The Captain's Bargain," by Julia McNair Wright.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have already issued for the Spring season a number of handsome books, chiefly for young people, all of which have been noticed in previous issues of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Those who need a reminder are referred to Messrs. Nelsons' advertisement, which will be found elsewhere in this issue.

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. steadily and unceasingly put upon the market English and American novels, which first have a run at a good price in substantial binding and are then metamorphosed into 25 c. paper novels and start in for a still more extended and successful run. Mrs. Southworth, Mrs. Stephens, Caroline Lee Hentz, Zola, Henry Greville, and others have already been entered in the paper army, and their works are being brought out in rapid succession. A novel just starting among the upper-price books is "A Business Woman's Journal," by Mrs. B. Beaumont, of Woodville, Tennessee, which is a sequel to "Twelve Years of My Life." It describes a trip from New Orleans through England, and the author's business career of prosperity until failure of the cotton crop brings her into debt and trouble, from which pluck and patience at last set her free.

PORTER & COATES announce a book sure of welcome among Quakers throughout the country in the "Life and Work of Eli and Sybil Jones," preachers and missionaries in the Society of Friends for more than fifty years, during which they have travelled over the greater part of the civilized world. The name of the editor is not given, but he has the full approval of Eli Jones and has had access to all his diaries and letters. Almost all Quakers in good standing have a personal acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. Jones and will be glad to see this record of their busy, useful lives.

JAMES POTT & Co. have made arrangements to bring out some valuable additions to their extensive line of Protestant Episcopal Church literature. "The Ministry of the Christian Church," by Charles Gore, treats acknowledged difficulties with fairness, gives abundant references to the latest assailants and refutations of popular fallacies, and makes its scholarly information available by a full and carefully prepared index. "Our Inheritance" is a popular account of the Lord's Supper during the first three centuries, by Rev. S. Baring-Gould; "The Analytics of Belief in a Future Life," by L. P. Gratacap, will be of service to all arguing theologians; "The Mysteries of Providence and of Grace" is founded upon the story of Lazarus and consists of meditations delivered during the Lenten season of 1884, in Trinity Cathedral, Easton, Md.; "Reasonable Faith" will contain four sermons on fundamental Christian doctrines, by Rev. A. C. A. Hall, of Boston, Mass., and "The Divine Memorial of the Holy Eucharist," by the Rev. H. C. Stuart, of Quebec, is a brief exposition of the harmony subsisting between the passion of Christ and its representations in the Old and New Covenants. For younger readers Geikie's "Life of Christ" has been put into one volume and fully illustrated; and many helpful thoughts are furnished them in Rev. F. M. Faber's "Kindness in General, Kind Thoughts, Kind Words, Kind Actions." A beautiful story has also been founded on one of Canon Knox-Little's sermons and dedicated to him under the title of "Little King Davie." The publishers also announce many additions to their long line of "Bagster's Teachers' Bibles."

JOHN E. POTTER & Co. announce that they are hard at work getting out new books, but are as yet only prepared to mention two new works, additions to their "Fenno's Favorites," which now number six issues. Prof. Fenno is a teacher of elocution and fills his volumes with practical hints on pronunciation, gesture, and stage management, and also shows cultivated taste in making his selections of pieces. They have also just ready "Potter's New Elementary Geography," by Miss Eliza H. Morton; and "Elements of Geometry," by C. F. R. Bellows, both of which have been received with favor.

L. PRANG & Co.'s efforts to bring out more artistic designs and more elaborate and tasty novelties have not been in vain this season, as the large line of elegant Easter goods fully attests. Flowers, landscapes, and lovely children are the principal motifs for the designs, and lofty and appropriate sentiments accompany them. Among the novelties are Art Tiles of rare patterns, in imitation of plastic tiles, hand-modelled, made of durable material, and Ivory Mounts, also hand-modelled, in exact imitation of old carved ivory. Both imitations are excellent, and the designs highly artistic. Hand-painted Mounts are largely represented in the line. The Satin Art Prints are daintier and more delicate than ever before, and good taste is displayed in the various forms in which they are issued, such as book-marks, sachets, bags, portfolios, mouchoir cases, cushions, banners, as well as on handsome hand-decorated mounts and imitation ivory mounts. One set of designs has been printed on rich, soft faille silk, instead of satin, with a very happy result. A large line of Easter Booklets, most of them in hand-decorated covers, are brought out under appropriate titles and filled with the best Easter poetry. The Art Books issued for Easter are, besides "The Lord is Risen" and "Come, Sunshine, Come," which met with such large sale last year, and are therefore retained, the following: "Easter Spires," a dainty little gem, containing a poem by Mrs. Annie D. Darling, with five full-page photographs by L. K. Harlow, in illuminated cover; "A Garland of Songs," words and designs by Lisbeth B. Comins, with music adapted from works of well-known composers, and fifteen full-page monotint illustrations, and "Not to Myself Alone," a poem, with six full-page etchings by L. K. Harlow and vignettes in pen-drawing by F. Schuyler Mathews.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have again made preparations to add some important volumes to their list during the advancing spring. Of educational interest will be "Studies in Primary Education," by Dr. Mary Putnam Jacobi, dwelling particularly upon the place for the study of languages in a curriculum of education; and "The Nursery Lesson Book," by Philip G. Hubert, Jr., aiming to be a guide for mothers in giving their children progressive instruction in reading, writing, arithmetic, drawing, and singing. In description there will be "From Japan to Granada," by Rev. Dr. James Henry Chapin, in which the talented author of "Creation" and "Sketches of The Huguenots" gives sketches of observations and inquiry in a tour around the world in 1887-88; and "Manual of Oriental Antiquities," by Ernest Babylon, translated and enlarged by B. T. A. Evetts, describes the architecture, sculpture, and industrial arts of Chaldea, Assyria, Persia, Syria, Judea, Phœnicia, and Carthage, making its clear recital still more effective with 250 illustrations. The publishers have in press, as their own commemoration of the centennial anniversary of the inauguration of Washington, a unique limited edition of Irving's "Life of Washington," a work for which Bryant predicted "a deathless renown." The set will be issued in five volumes, printed in large quarto form, and will contain 200 illustrations, comprising 130 steel plates and 70 woodcuts printed on india paper and inlaid in the text. The plates include portraits of all the noteworthy generals and statesmen of the American Revolution. But 300 sets will be issued, and the type will be distributed as printed from. The second volume of "The Writings of George Washington," edited by Worthington C. Ford, will appear in April, and the remaining dozen volumes will follow at intervals of two months. Only 750 copies of each volume will be printed, and the type will be distributed after the appearance of each part. Also of historical value will be "The Winning of the West and Southwest, 1769-1783," by Theodore Roosevelt; "The Story of Boston," by Arthur Gilman, and the coming volumes in the Story of Nations, including the "Story of Phœnicia," by Prof. Geo. Rawlinson; "Story of the Crusades," by T. A. Archer, Oxford; "Story of Early Britain," by Prof. Alfred Church; and "Story of the Hanse Towns," by Helen Zimmern. "The Crusade of Richard I., 1187-1189," by T. A. Archer, is the coming title in the series of English History from Contemporary Writers, and in active preparation in the same series are, "The Troublesome Days of Richard II.," by Miss L. Toulmin Smith, and "Alfred and the Danes, 870-901," by F. York Powell. Of economic and political interest are "The Stock Exchanges of London, Paris, and New York," by George Routledge Gibson; "The Geography of Marriage," by William L. Snyder, a consideration of the legal complexities connected with marriage in the United States; "A Manual of Procedure for Deliberative Assemblies," by George G. Crocker, and "The Constitutional History of the United States," containing chapters by Thomas M. Cooley, Justice Marshall, Henry Hitchcock, D. H. Chamberlain, and other celebrities in American politics. Francis Valk has written "Errors of Refraction," and Hon. Wm. P. Letchworth, President of the New York Board of Charities, has written a book on "The Insane in Foreign Countries," giving notes of an examination of European methods of caring for the insane, and many illustrations which must interest specialists. Of religious interest will be "Christian Doctrine Harmonized and Its Absolute Rationality Vindicated," by John Steinfort Kedney. The pretty Knickerbocker Series will receive the addition of De Quincey's "Murder as a Fine Art," and Sydney Smith's "Wit and Wisdom." "A Memoir of John M. Wieting," by Mary E. Wieting, is also promised in a limited letter-press edition.

RAND, McNALLY & Co. have published extensively during the past season and have made arrangements to keep up their activity. In books relating to railways, of which they make a specialty, there will be "Crull's Time and Speed Chart," intended for compiling railway timetables, which will show time required to run any distance from one-tenth of a mile up to 150 miles at any given speed from one to ninety miles an hour. The first of a series of lessons by Charles G. Leland treating of "Drawing and Designing" will be entitled "Minor Arts and Industries," and have many illustrations; as will also a descriptive sporting volume called "Cruisings in the Cascades and other Hunting Adventures," by G. O. Shields (Coquina). Of different interest will be "The Salvation Army," in which Nora Marks tells the oft-told tale of its aims and methods. To their two libraries of fiction, The Rialto Series and The Globe Library, they propose many additions. Owing to the fear of being forestalled by competitors they thus far decline to have their plans for the latter made public, but in the former they mention "Mikanore," by Henry Greville, and "Merze, the Story of an Actress," by Marah Ellis, both of which are elaborately illustrated with photogravures.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co. make a welcome announcement of a cheap 12mo edition of Stanley's "Historical Memorials of Westminster Abbey," and also promise an American edition of "The Thumb Bible," by John Taylor, the water poet. They have just brought out "Messages of the King's Daughters," by Annie Darling, and "The Testimony of Justin Martyr to Early Christianity," lectures delivered by George T. Purves at the Princeton Theological Seminary in 1888. To their Epochs of Church History they will add "Wycklyf and Reform," by Reginald Lane Poole, and "Counter-Reformation," by Adolphus William Ward; to their Men of the Bible they will add "Elijah: His Life and Times," by Prof. W. Milligan; "Jeremiah," by Rev. Canon T. K. Cheyne; "Jesus Christ," by F. J. Vallings; "Daniel," by H. Deane, and "David," by William J. Deane, who has already written upon "Samuel" and "Saul;" to their valuable Pulpit Commentary will be added "Second Samuel" in the Old Testament division, and the first volume of "St. Luke" in the New Testament division; and "Galatians" will be added to The Biblical Illustrator, edited by the indefatigable Rev. J. S. Exell. The "Life of Samuel Wilberforce," by his son, Reginald Wilberforce, has been revised and will be reissued with additions almost immediately. A very interesting announcement is "The Imitation of Christ," which Dr. Hirsche, of Hamburg, has spent a quarter of a century studying and editing, and which has now been translated faithfully from the edition published from Thomas Kempis' own manuscript by the great German theologian. Among other discoveries made by Dr. Hirsche is that the world-famous author of the Imitation should not be called Thomas à Kempis, as that letter signifies nothing either in Latin or French; and also that the original Latin was in rhythmic form, which Dr. Hirsche has striven to reproduce by a system of punctuation rigidly adhered to throughout the four books. A short story in neat dress called "Thomas Hard, Priest," is a clever parody of "John Ward, Preacher," showing a sensible woman's way of attaining her end without sacrificing conscience, and by loving, wise knowledge of masculine nature. It is written by Barton Lee, who tells of the trials of a strict Anglican priest married to a woman of Congregational persuasions, who had both agreed that their baby should belong to the Episcopal Church, but compromised on their decision for a while, and rocked the infant in a Puritan cradle which the wife had turned into an article of bric-à-brac by painting it in her leisure hours. The consequences of the Puritan motion on the semi-Episcopal infantile brain leads to the denouement.

FLEMING H. REVELL will get ready the "Missionary Year Book for 1889-90," of which the American edition is edited by Rev. J. T. Gracey, of Buffalo, and gives an excellent presentation of the work of American societies in pagan lands, and is strongly recommended as a companion volume to Rev. James Johnston's "Protestant Missions of the World," lately issued by the house. Among their many helpful books for Christian readers are "The Christian's Secret of a Happy Life," "Fifty Years and Beyond; or, old age, and how to enjoy it," "The Way to Him," by John T. Dale; "The Sabbath: its performance, promise, and defence," and "Hymns, Old and New," edited by D. B. Towner. For deeper thinkers will be "What Are We to Believe?" by Rev. John Urquhart; "Bible Briefs, or, outline themes for Scripture students," by G. C. and E. A. Needham; and "Bible Helps for Busy Men," by A. C. P. Cooke, now in its fourth edition. Further information on various tracts and reports will be found in the classified list under Theology, Religion, etc.

ROBERTS BROS. are arranging to publish several important books during the coming season. Philip Gilbert Hamerton, author of "The Intellectual Life," has also written a series of scholarly essays on "Physical Education." "Ethical Religion," by William M. Salter, adds still another volume to the steadily increasing literature of its kind. The new volume in the Famous Women Series will be devoted to "Jane Austin." Mrs. Helen Campbell last year went abroad and made studies on the spot about the working people, which now appear in attractive book form, under the title of "Prisoners of Poverty Abroad," uniform with her "Prisoners of Poverty" published last April. Mrs. Campbell has this subject well in hand, and writes with head and heart to help her fellow-men. Edward Everett Hale has written a volume of "Sunday-School Stories for Infant Classes;" and his favorite stories "Ten Times One is Ten" and "In His Name" will be issued in paper editions at 25 cents. In fiction, as usual, the house announces generously and with discrimination. "Bureaucracy" and "Seraphita" are the next volumes to be added to the wonderfully translated and perfectly printed edition of Balzac's novels. The author of "The Colonel's Opera Cloak," Mrs. Christine Chaplin Brush, will issue a new story called "Inside the Gate," which is said to rival in interest her former work which made so great a success in the admirable No Name Series. "Chata and Chinita," by Louise Palmer Heaven, is the flowing name of a new Spanish-Mexican romance said to show much power. Mrs. M. O. W. Oliphant published "The Little Pilgrim" in the Fall of 1882. She now has ready a book called "The Little Pilgrim's Further Experiences," in which she continues her poetic thoughts upon the future life; and also a volume in the same vein called "Stories of the Seen and Unseen." Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton reappears in a book called "Miss Eyre from Boston, and Others;" and the house promises a new edition of Robert T. S. Lowell's perennially fresh romance of "The New Priest in Conception Bay," which has held its readers since it first appeared in 1859, as published by Messrs. E. P. Dutton & Co.

HAROLD ROORBACH, N. Y., has almost ready two or three new little pamphlets calculated to add to the fun at social gatherings. "The Japanese Wedding," issued a short time ago, gave clear descriptions of that ceremony in Japan, and details of a pantomime representation. The newest entertainments will consist of a series of "Evenings with Dickens." The first lets the company enjoy "An Evening with Copperfield," introducing all the well-known characters down to the wooden-legged gatekeeper, and affording wide scope to amateurs for intelligent and laughable exhibitions in churches, schools, literary or social clubs, and the home circle. The second gives "An Evening with Pickwick," and a summer boarding-house may be convulsed with it if the actors and readers make themselves firm in their parts.

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS have published steadily through the year and have only three books ready for special Spring announcement. To their beautiful Daudet books they will add "The Recollections of a Man of Letters," with 89 illustrations from designs by Bieler, Montegut, Myrbach, and Rossi, engraved by Charles Guillaume. "Untrodden Peaks and Unfrequented Valleys," by Amelia B. Edwards, will be brought out uniform with "A Thousand Miles Up The Nile," and will be of special interest during the time the great Egyptian scholar is visiting this country. "Tales of the Seven Deadly Sins," by John Gower, will be volume 2 of the Carisbrooke Library, edited by Prof. Henry Morley, a continuation and development of the Universal Library.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS' list of spring publications includes a number of books of unusual importance. Chief in the list is a new story by the author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett. The title is "The Pretty Sister of José" and the book will have twelve illustrations by C. S. Reinhart. Mrs. Burnett's last story is a striking illustration of her versatility, the scene of the romantic tale being laid in Madrid, and the principal characters being Spaniards of the humbler class. Pepita, "the pretty sister of José," as she is known among the gallants who flock around her, is an uncommonly interesting study of a country girl, who brings with her to the gay capital a stock of pride and wilfulness, an imperious temper, and dazzling beauty. For sixty years the "Memoirs of Napoleon Bonaparte," by Louis Antoine Fauvelet de Bourrienne, has been a standard authority to which every one has turned for a graphic, entertaining picture of the man as he appeared to his intimate friend and secretary. His "Memoirs" has heretofore been accessible only in the English editions. It is now proposed to publish immediately in a popular Library Edition, in four 12mo volumes, an exact reprint of the latest English edition. This American edition will contain the thirty-four portraits and other illustrations of the original, together with all the other features that give distinction to the work—the chronology of Napoleon's life, the prefaces to the several editions, the author's introduction, and the additional matter which supplements Bourrienne's work. A new edition of the famous Erckmann-Chatrian "National Novels," six in number, with illustrations, an introduction, descriptive prefaces, etc., is also announced. The publication of this new edition of the Erckmann-Chatrian "National Novels" comes at a time when French fiction as represented by Balzac, Hugo, Daudet, and others is attracting unusual attention in this country. The stories of M. Erckmann and M. Chatrian scarcely need a word of explanation, as their literary merits and their historical value have been fully appreciated both by the critics and the public. They present with simplicity, power, and truthfulness the great periods of French history from the point of view of the humbler sharers in these important events. Henry T. Finck, the author of "Romantic Love and Personal Beauty," has written a volume of essays on musical subjects entitled "Chopin, and Other Musical Essays," which this firm publishes. Mr. Finck's papers discuss such timely questions as German opera in New York and the difference between the German and Italian vocal styles, as well as Chopin, Schumann, and the philosophical relation between music and morals. The limited edition of Lester Wallack's "Memories of Fifty Years" is worthy of special mention. The introduction by Laurence Hutton gives a biographical review of the Wallack family, and particularly of Lester Wallack, whose career upon the stage is traced in considerable detail. The work is a beautiful specimen of book-making, the illustrations, in particular, being numerous and of the greatest interest. In the reproduction of these letters, etc., the colors of the paper and ink of the originals are imitated. Each of the portraits has a page to itself, the back of the page being left blank: a fact of especial interest to extra illustrators and to collectors of theatrical portraits, many of those in the volume being from extremely rare and valuable prints. At the end of the volume is a complete list of characters played by Mr. Wallack. In "French Traits: a study in comparative criticism," by W. C. Brownell, there is presented a subtle and at the same time an extremely entertaining analysis of French character and French society, the parallel of which is not to be found elsewhere. The method of criticism is comparative throughout, the social customs, intellectual habits, and moral standards of the French being brought into juxtaposition with those that prevail in America. The "Cyclopædia of Music and Musicians," edited by John Denison Champlin, Jr., with William F. Apthorp, of Boston, as critical editor, will consist of three quarto volumes, this edition being limited to 500 numbered sets for this country and 50 for England. The scope, plan, and arrangement of the work are similar to those which made the "Cyclopædia of Painters and Paintings" unique and of the greatest value for reference. Like its predecessor, it is to be comprehensive and authoritative, the hearty coöperation of distinguished musicians having contributed largely to this result. An important feature of the work will be the illustrations—hundreds of portraits, more than were ever before collected in any similar work, and including a large number never before printed, of musicians, with autographs, reproductions in fac-simile of famous scores, views of birth-places, etc., etc. The three volumes will have 36 full-page portraits of famous composers, etched especially for this edition, the first volume, now ready, containing Auber, Bach, Berlioz, Beethoven, Brahms, Bellini, Boieldieu, Cherubini, Chopin, Donizetti, Franz, and Gluck.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD announce several "books that are books." They will issue an edition in two volumes of the "Select Essays of Thomas De Quincey," edited and annotated by Prof. David Masson; volume 5 of "The Henry Irving Shakespeare," containing "All's Well that Ends Well," "Julius Cæsar," "Measure for Measure," "Troilus and Cressida," and "Macbeth;" and volume 2 of "A New Commentary on the Book of Genesis," by Prof. Franz Delitzsch, who for a generation has been one of the foremost biblical scholars of Germany. History will be represented by "Francis I. and His Times," translated from the French of Madame C. Coignet by Fanny Twemlow; description by an edition in one volume of the two-volume "Cruise of the Marchesa to Kamschatka and New Guinea," by F. H. H. Guillemard, with notices of Formosa and Liuku, the Malay Islands, and various islands; a new edition of "Hayti, the Black Republic," by Sir Spencer St. John; "The Multum in Parvo Atlas of the World," by W. and A. K. Johnston, comprising 96 double-page maps, political, physical, etc., useful statistics, and complete index; and "Old Glasgow," by Andrew McGeorge, who tells of the place and the people from the Roman occupation to the eighteenth century, and whose words are made more vivid by excellent illustrations, topographical views, and fac-simile engravings. In light literature there will be a little book of "Operatic Tales," in which F. R. Chesney will tell the stories on which the favorite operas are founded, including "Lohengrin," "Carmen," "Faust," "The Prophet," "The Meistersinger," etc., and "The Dead Leman, and Other Tales from the French," translated by Andrew Lang and Paul Sylvester, including an introduction, the title story by Theophile Gautier, "How We Took the Redoubt," and "The Etruscan Vase," by Prosper Mérimée; "The Taper," by Leon Tolstoi; "These Lots to be Sold," by Edmond About; "A Conversion," by Th. Bentzon; and "The Doctor's Story," by Balzac. "Sartor Resartus," "In Vinculis," "The Loza Minstrel," by J. Ashley Sterry, and "Love Sonnets of Proteus," by W. S. Blunt, will be the next additions to the Ideal Series, and the Bohn's Libraries will also receive some additions. "Hozell's Annual Cyclopædia for 1889," edited by E. D. Price, brought down to the close of 1888, will also soon be ready.

W. J. SHUEY (United Brethren Publishing House) will have ready "Christian Doctrine," a treatise on systematic and practical theology by various authors, edited by Bishop J. Weaver; "Songs of the Morning," a new book for Sunday-Schools, by Rev. I. Baltzell, and Rev. E. S. Lorenz, containing new hymns and new music; and new editions of "Getting Ready for a Revival," by E. S. Lorenz, who also compiles "The Gospel Worker's Treasury," a collection of hymn and revival anecdotes, texts, Scripture readings, etc., and "Missionary Songs." There will be a new edition also of the "Handbook for Workers," a manual of Bible texts arranged by Rev. M. R. Drury.

F. A. STOKES & BRO., besides their Easter novelties noticed early in the month, announce a jolly volume culled from the bright pages of Life and called "Fun from Life," under which name they will collect the spring installment of the best things of Life, and still continue to issue "The Good Things of Life," to be laughed at in Christmas reunions. An amusing satirical account of the adventures of a party of Persian explorers among the ruins of America, in the year 1967 A.D., has been written and illustrated by J. A. Mitchell, the editor of Life, and will be labelled "The Last American." It appears as "a fragment of the journal of Khan-li, Prince of Dimph-yoo-chur and Admiral in the Persian Navy." Their series of New Handy Volume Standards, thus far containing four volumes of Bulwer's historical romances, four volumes of Carlyle, two volumes of tales from Blackwood's Magazine, three volumes of Trevelyan, the "Select Writings of Macaulay," and "Oliver Cromwell's Letters and Speeches," have been put into spring costumes of half cloth with wine-colored vellum-cloth backs, with outer half-sides in gold and delicate buff, and also into even more attractive half-calf, with olive-colored "cocoa" sides and linings, and both styles show excellent materials and tasteful and expert workmanship.

E. & F. N. SPON will bring out some good technical works, full titles of which will be found in our classified list under the heading of Arts and Sciences.

TICKNOR & Co. announce several novels, all up to their usual high standard of literary value and engrossing interest. In March they add to their Paper Series "Forced Acquaintances," by Edith Robinson; and "Under Green Apple Boughs," by Helen Campbell; and in April they will issue Miss Tinker's "Two Coronets," Alice Brown's "Fools of Nature," and Julian Hawthorne's "Dust." A Portuguese novel by Eça de Queiros, has been translated by Mrs. Mary J. Serrano, under the title "Dragon's Teeth." It is said to be a story of sin and sorrow enlivened by touches of humor, and of great literary interest.

VAN ANTWERP, BRAGG & Co.'s announcements in their special line may be found in our classified list under Education, Language, etc.

FREDERICK WARNE & Co. announce a new series of books to be called the Victoria Library. Its scope will include selected works in poetry and prose from classic literature, biographies, histories of important epochs, descriptions of places of note, and occasional volumes of choice fiction. The first volume, entitled "British Oratory," is made up of six famous speeches, Grattan on Irish Liberty, Pitt on Union, Peel on the Corn Laws, Bright on Reform, Jones on Democracy, and Gladstone on Parliamentary Oaths. The books of this series will be sixteenmo pocket size, bound neatly in red cloth. A new edition of Southey's "Life of Wesley," edited by Rev. J. A. Atkinson, will be added to their Cavendish Library, and "The Ingoldsby Legends" will be placed among the Albion Poets and also included in the Chandos Classics, bound in the Roxburgh and also in the Library styles. Alexander Dumas' "Paul Jones" is just ready, translated by Henry Llewellyn Williams; and Balzac's "Cousin Pons" has been translated by Philip Kent and will appear in the Continental Library; while a distinctly English work of fiction will be brought out in "For England's Sake," by Robert Cromie, which deals with Kabul and Kandahar and is dedicated to Sir Edwin Arnold.

CHARLES L. WEBSTER & Co. this spring turn from their clientèle of literary customers to cater for a class whose appetite for books must be awakened by desire to possess a volume that will show them a new way to make palatable the world-old necessity of food. "The Table," by Alessandro Filippini, for twenty-four years with Delmonico, is more than a mere cook-book. It gives more receipts than any book of its kind and at the same time contains invaluable advice by an expert on how to buy what is best and most economical, how to set tables and serve meals. The book is adapted to all styles of living. It will be beautifully printed with wide margins and bound neatly in oil-cloth for the kitchen and in full seal Russia for the library.

WHITE & ALLEN have nearly ready an historical souvenir by Mrs. Martha J. Lamb, editor of the Magazine of American History, entitled "1789-1889, Centennial Anniversary of Washington's Inauguration." Mrs. Lamb has carefully prepared this brochure, giving a vivid picture of Washington's inauguration, a sketchy description of prominent incidents occurring during his occupancy of the chair, together with glimpses of historic homes and landmarks now extant. These articles will be issued in a style befitting the occasion, and will contain a series of illustrations consisting of upwards of 40 reproductions of portraits, buildings, landmarks, etc., of the olden times, together with an official programme of exercises, etc., to take place throughout the country, thus giving the publication a double value. They also announce a new story by L. T. Meade, entitled "Deb and the Duchess," with seven illustrations by M. Ellen Edwards. Miss Meade has won for herself many enthusiastic readers in this country, especially by her charming story, "Daddy's Boy," which went out of print in a short time, and of which a new edition will be ready at once. They are also preparing an edition for the Easter holidays of "Log Book Notes."

C. H. WHITING (Chicago Depository of the Presbyterian Board of Publication) will have ready during the spring a book of "Forms," compiled by Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson, containing forms for the special occasions of baptism, the Lord's Supper, ordination, dedication, marriage and burial, and Scripture selections for the chamber of sickness, the service at funerals, and the house of mourning, a book which will be of great use to younger clergymen. It is of handy size,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  inches, neatly and attractively bound in limp leather.

THOMAS WHITTAKER will add some important books to his list of valuable church literature. "The Chief Things," by Rev. A. W. Snyder, is a volume particularly well suited for public reading at week-day services; "Sermon Stuff," by Dr. S. D. McConnell, Rector of St. Stephen's Church, Philadelphia, comprises fifty-five sketches and two complete sermons and is full of good thoughts; the second series of "Living Voices of Living Men" is composed of practical sermons intended for family and lay reading. "The Law of Liberty and Other Discourses," by James Morris Whiton, contains fresh sermons for hearers of average culture, and a new volume of twenty-two sermons by Frederick W. Farrar, the eloquent Archdeacon of Westminster Abbey, is nearly ready. Later in the season the house promises "Guide Marks by Church People," by Bishop Wilmer, of Alabama, and "The Divine Liturgy," a devotional commentary on the Holy Eucharist, by Dr. H. M. Luckock.

JOHN WILEY & SONS make several important announcements, of which full titles will be found in the classified list in this number under the headings of Arts and Sciences, or else under Education, Language, etc.

E. & J. B. YOUNG announce several books which will be of use to clergymen and laymen interested in church doctrine and church work. Collectors of Bibles will be glad to hear that a new work is forthcoming on "Old Bibles," giving a popular history and description of Bibles from the time of the earliest English translation, by J. R. Dore, with numerous illustrations, facsimiles of title-pages, etc. A volume of sermons preached by Knox-Little will be entitled "Light of Life" and will be of great interest to those who had the pleasure of hearing the great English preacher during his recent visit to America; "The Counsels of the Divine Master" is a work in two volumes by Dean E. M. Goulburn, of Norwich, England; "The Infallibility of the Church," by George Salmon, contains a course of lectures delivered at the University of Dublin; a "Manual of Parochial Work" has been prepared for the use of the younger clergy by various authors; and the successful choirmaster of St. James' Church, New York City, Mr. G. Edward Stubbs, has prepared "Practical Hints on Choir-Boy Training," giving the methods by which he has produced such good results. "A Harmony of the Gospel Narratives of Holy Week" will be ready before that season, and a volume on "The History and Teachings of the Early Church," by several leading clergymen, as a basis for the reunion of christendom, is composed of lectures delivered under the auspices of the Church Club in Christ Church, New York City. In secular literature there will be "Marriage and Divorce," by Rev. B. Franklin, D.D.; the first volume of a "New Series of Reports on State Trials," edited by Mr. John Macdonell, who has had access to documents in the possession of Government Departments in England, Ireland, and Scotland; and a "Star Atlas," containing maps of all the stars between the North Pole and the South declination, with explanatory text by Dr. Hermann J. Klein, translated and adapted for English readers by Edmund McClure.

BUSINESS NOTES.

We learn that Mr. A. B. M'Glashen has been taken into partnership by the firm of Adam & Charles Black, of Edinburgh, the well-known publishers of the Encyclopædia Britannica. Mr. M'Glashen has for many years acted as representative of the firm, and in that capacity is well known in publishing circles in this country.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

MARGARET E. SANGSTER, who has been for a number of years the "postmistress" of Harper's Young People, and who has a wide reputation as a writer of graceful verse, has succeeded to the editorship of Harper's Bazar, left vacant by the death of Miss Mary L. Booth.

THE Forum for April will contain a reply by Prof. Geo. P. Fisher, of Yale University, to Cardinal Manning's criticism of the public school system. Prof. Fisher defends religious liberty and public education against the Roman Catholic attack. In the same number Guillaume C. Tener, a French journalist, will explain the rise of Boulanger "by a horse and a song," and give an inside view of French politics and parties.

S. BING, the Paris expert, assisted by several of the best English authorities in Japanese art, conducts Artistic Japan, a sumptuous monthly journal full of valuable resources for technical designers, book illustrators, architects, decorators, manufacturers of papers, printers, weavers, potters, bronze-workers, etc. He has now arranged for an American edition which will contain precisely the same engraved and colored plates which are printed by the artist Mr. Charles Gillot in Paris under the personal supervision of Mr. S. Bing. It is proposed also to invite the kind collaboration of the literati and experts in America as the work progresses. Besides being of practical value, the work will constitute a graphic encyclopædia for the use of all students of Japanese art who are desirous of tracing the course of its development.

ALWAYS ORDER BY NUMBER.—Customer (in book-store)—Have you Victor Hugo's "'93," in this paper-covered series? Clerk (looking over the shelves)—Yes, sir; we have No. 93, but it's not Victor Hugo's; it's one of Miss Gushing-ton's novels.—Life.

HOPES FOR BOSTON.—Boston Book Dealer—Yes, madam, there seems to be a sudden and enormous demand for the works of Mr. Lowell and Dr. Holmes. Madam—To what do you attribute the increase? Book Dealer—Well, I think the downfall of Mr. Sullivan has had something to do with it.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address, in each issue. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

It is desirable to receive copy in shape ready for the printer, viz.: first, headline—name and address—then, titles in separate lines (see below), all written on a separate sheet, or at the bottom of letter, or on postal card. Compliance with this request will secure accurate and prompt insertion.

A FEW SPRING ANNOUNCEMENTS

OF

Charles Scribner's Sons,

743 and 745 Broadway, New York.

A NEW STORY BY MRS. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT.

THE PRETTY SISTER OF JOSÉ.

By FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT. Illustrated by C. S. REINHART.
12mo, $1.00.

A beautiful Spanish girl and one of the most popular bull-fighters in Spain are the two principal characters of this delightful tale of love and romance. The story is very sweet and tender in feeling, intensely dramatic in development, and is told with that winning simplicity that makes everything from the pen of Mrs. Burnett so full of charm and fascination. The book is copiously illustrated, and is certain to take rank with the author's most popular works.

LESTER WALLACK'S MEMORIES OF FIFTY YEARS.

By LESTER WALLACK. With an introduction by LAURENCE HUTTON. With numerous portraits, views, fac-simile reproductions, etc. Limited edition. Small 4to, $10 00, net.

The rapidity with which the larger portion of this important work was subscribed for before publication indicates that numbers of this limited edition of 500 copies will become more valuable with each year. The reception of the book both from the press and the public has been cordial and fully appreciative of its merits as a beautiful and valuable specimen of bookmaking. Descriptive circulars sent free. Early subscriptions for balance of edition are advised.

"The delightful chat about the old times and the old favorites is brightened by portraits of the most distinguished among them."—Boston Herald.

"Full of genial and kindly reminiscences of the great lights of the stage, and brightened by many amusing anecdotes."—Albany Argus.

CHOPIN AND OTHER MUSICAL ESSAYS.

By HENRY T. FINCK, author of "Romantic Love and Personal Beauty." 12mo, $1.50.

Mr. Finck's papers on musical subjects cover a broad field in an entertaining, instructive, and popular manner. They discuss such timely questions as German Opera in New York, and the difference between the German and Italian vocal styles, as well as Chopin, Schumann, and the philosophical relation between music and morals. The author is thoroughly familiar with the literature of his subject and his individuality is impressed upon every page.

VOLUME II. OF DR. VINCENT'S GREAT WORK,

WORD STUDIES IN THE NEW TESTAMENT.

By MARVIN R. VINCENT, D.D. Vol. II. The Writings of John—The Gospel, the Epistles, the Apocalypse. 8vo, $4.00.

The high respect commanded by the first volume of this notable work will be more than sustained by the second volume. The author retains his remarkably clear and concise style of treatment all through this volume, and completes a work which must rank with one of the most useful and important theological books of the time.

"It cannot fail to be of great use to Biblical students."—New York Sun.

"It is a true study of words, designed to aid the careful student in gaining the richness and fulness of the divine thought."—New York Observer.

"His work will occupy a position almost unique in its importance to Biblical study."—Phila. Presbyterian.

Vol. I.—Synoptic Gospels, Acts of Apostles, and Epistles of Peter, James, and Jude. $4.00.

Charles Scribner's Sons' Partial Spring Announcements.—Continued.

"A brilliant picture of Napoleon."—New York Times.

AN AMERICAN EDITION OF BOURRIENNE'S FAMOUS

MEMOIRS OF NAPOLEON BONAPARTE.

By LOUIS ANTOINE FAUVELET DE BOURRIENNE, his Private Secretary. Edited by Col. R. W. Phipps. New and revised edition, with 34 full-page portraits and other illustrations. The set, 4 vols., 12mo, in a box, $5.00.

For sixty years Bourrienne's "Memoirs of Napoleon" has been a standard authority to which every one has turned for a graphic, entertaining picture of the man as he appeared to his intimate friend and Secretary. This American edition contains the thirty-four portraits and other illustrations of the original, together with all the other features that give distinction to the work—the chronology of Napoleon's life, the prefaces to the several editions, the author's introduction and the additional matter which supplements Bourrienne's work, an account of the important events of the Hundred Days of Napoleon's surrender to the English and of his residence and death at St. Helena, with anecdotes and illustrative extracts from contemporary Memoirs.

"The only authentic Memoirs of Napoleon which have yet appeared."—PRINCE METTERNICH.

THE ERCKMANN-CHATRIAN NATIONAL NOVELS.

Six volumes, with Illustrations, an Introduction, Prefaces, etc. 6 vols., 12mo, each $1.25; the set in a box, $7.50.

The publication of a new edition of the Erckmann-Chatrian "National Novels," comes at a time when French fiction, as represented by Balzac, Hugo, Daudet, and others, is attracting unusual attention in this country. The stories of M. Erckmann and M. Chatrian scarcely need a word of explanation, as their literary merits and their historical value have been fully appreciated both by the critics and the public.

"These are among the few French novels that do not leave (as Charlotte Brontë said) a bad taste in one's mouth."—COL. THOS. WENTWORTH HIGGINSON.

MADAME THÉRÈSE; or, the Volunteers of '92.

THE CONSCRIPT: A Story of the French War of 1813.

THE BLOCKADE OF PHALSBURG: An Episode of the End of the Empire.

THE INVASION OF FRANCE IN 1814:

Comprising the Night March of the Russian Army past Phalsburg.

WATERLOO: A Sequel to the Conscript of 1813.

THE PLEBISCITE; or, a Miller's Story of the War of 1870-71.

FOUR BOOKS THAT ARE ALWAYS SALABLE:

The Diary and Letters of Gouverneur Morris.

Edited by ANNE CARY MORRIS. With portraits, 2 vols., 8vo, $7.50.

"It is perhaps the most important American diary ever published."—Boston Courier.

"From beginning to end it is a notable book."—N. Y. Herald.

"Likely to be valued and read so long as histories of the closing years of the eighteenth century are read."—N. Y. Times.

A History of French Painting.

From Its Earliest to Its Latest Practice. By C. H. STRANAHAN. With 16 full-page illustrations. 8vo, $5.00.

"This book deserves success anywhere as being at once the most comprehensive and most judicious book upon its subject. Readableness, comprehensiveness, judiciousness mark it as of signal value."—Boston Advertiser.

"A volume elaborate, learned, rich in the history of French art."—Rev. Dr. R. S. STORRS.

"It is an artistic book in every sense of the word."—Indianapolis Journal.

Men and Measures of Half a Century:

By HUGH McCULLOCH. 8vo, $4.00.

"Without question, the great book of the year."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"One of the most charming of recent autobiographies."—Harper's Weekly.

"It has a rare charm and value."—Boston Traveller.

"Few such works as this have appeared in this country."—Providence Journal.

French Traits:

"An Essay in Comparative Criticism." By W. C. BROWNELL. 12mo, $1.50.

"The book is one of the most intelligent, fair-minded, and suggestive that ever came under our hand."—Boston Courier.

"The whole volume is one that will inform and delight every reader of intelligence interested in the people of the one great republic of Europe."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"A piece of literary work akin to the best literature."—Christian Union.

** Dealers are earnestly solicited to send in their orders early. Catalogues and descriptive circulars always on hand and furnished upon application.

Charles Scribner's Sons, 743-745 Broadway, New York.

BELFORD'S MAGAZINE

For one year, postpaid, containing over 1800 pages of reading matter. Published at $2.50.

The magazine is under the editorial management of the keenest and most slashing writer of the day,

Col. DONN PIATT.

And, besides a complete original novel from the pen of some foremost American novelist (alone worth more than the price of the magazine), contains vigorous discussions on the important political, economic-social, and literary questions of the day, written in a fearless, able, and independent manner by the best authorities, and articles, sketches, poems, and stories by gifted and popular writers.

The highest place in the realm of fiction has been accorded by universal consent to George Eliot. No writer, living or dead, has covered the ground she has swept with the wing of her commanding genius.

The set includes Adam Bede, Romola, Felix Holt, Middlemarch, Daniel Deronda, Silas Marner, The Mill on the Floss, Scenes from Clerical Life, Theophrastus Such, and Jubal and other poems.

Over 2000 newspapers speak in the highest possible terms of BELFORD'S MAGAZINE, and commend it to all who want a fair, able, and fearless exponent of sound principles, combined with the literature of a first-class magazine.

Subscriptions can begin with any number, as each number is complete in itself, and may be sent to any of our offices.

SPRING BOOKS.

ALAN THORNE. By MARTHA LIVINGSTON MOODEY. 12mo, $1.25.

"Alan Thorne" is a book of striking originality and power. Robert Thorne, a confirmed infidel, determines to bring up his only son, Alan, in complete ignorance of God, immortality, and the Christian Church, hoping thereby to prove that "a highly cultured being, whose intellectual and moral nature are highly developed, will result in a more perfect character than one reared in the nurture of the Christian faith." Of course he fails miserably in this rash experiment. In spite of all his precautions, the sensitive boy-soul finds out God and learns to rejoice in the hope of immortality. Fearlessly and ably the story faces the same burning questions as does "Robert Elsmere," but with far different results.

Every one should read it who is candid enough to listen to the evidence on both sides.

ACROSS LOTS. By HORACE LUNT. 12mo $1.25.

Horace Lunt possesses the same loving knowledge and the same delicacy of touch as Thoreau and Burroughs, while he imitates neither. Such chapter titles as "A March Ramble," "Wood-Notes and Nest Hunting," "Field Notes in Seed-Time," "Crosscut Views of Winter," just hint at the contents of the book. Only the book itself can give an idea of its peculiar charm.

GLIMPSES OF GREAT FIELDS.

By Rev. J. A. HALL. 12mo, $1.25.

A very concise and complete summary of the results of scientific research on the questions, What is force, mind, life? The thought throughout is original and important, and will be followed with unusual attention.

TOM'S STREET. By Mrs. S. R. GRAHAM

CLARKE. 12mo, $1.50.

Admirers of the "Yensie Walton Books" will be pleased to hear that Mrs. Clarke has written a new book, fully up to the standard of her former successful efforts. Tom Young is the hero, a manly young fellow, full of enthusiasm in work for others. It is a story of "beginnings that have no endings," of persistent sowing of the seed upon all kinds of soil. The harvest was a glorious one.

FIVE LITTLE PEPPERS, and How

They Grew. By MARGARET SIDNEY. New edition, illustrated, quarto, illuminated board covers, only 25 cents. Regular edition, cloth, $1.50.

The best, the breeziest, the brightest story of childhood's real humanity yet written. No home should be without it.

VAGABOND TALES. By HJALMAR HJORTH BOYESEN. 12mo, $1.25.

Prof. Boyesen's "Vagabond Tales" is a most engaging collection of this popular story-teller's recent "novellettes." There is a breeziness, a vigor, and a manliness about his characters that captivate the reader at once and combine dramatic force with literary skill. Some of these stories have already been translated into French, German, and Spanish.

THE LITTLE RED SHOP. By MARGARET SIDNEY. 12mo, $1.00.

The Little Red Shop was the establishment—Miss Peaseley said "establishment"—of Brimmer Brothers & Company, dealers in "apples, potatoes, family provisions, and—butter and doughnuts." At least that's the way it began. The object of the "establishment" was to earn money for Mamsy and baby Roly Poly. How it did that and much more is told in this delightful story, brimful of racy New England life and child-life, Margaret Sidney's specialties.

A SEVENFOLD TROUBLE. By PANSY. 12mo, $1.50. (In press.)

"We are Seven" is the confession of the preface—Pansy, Grace, Paranete, Mrs. C. M. L., Faye Huntington, C. M. L., G. R. A. But the unity of plot and characters is so well sustained from cover to cover that it is hard to believe in the joint authorship. It is an unhappy, even turbulent home to which we are introduced—misunderstood children and an unappreciated stepmother—and at the particular moment that the story opens it is in a perfect uproar. In time, however, true friends are found and kindly religious influences invade, touching at first but a single heart, then widely diffusing. Like all the Pansy books, it guides to higher living.

THE STORY OF VERMONT. By JOHN L. HEATON. 8vo, $1.50. (In press.)

A stirring and practical presentation of the early struggles, the rise, and the development of the Green Mountain State. Thorough, careful, and every way entertaining, the volume is one that every resident of Vermont and every person who can trace his ancestry to that sturdy mountain commonwealth will be glad to possess. The only history of Vermont published in forty years.

JOURNEYINGS IN ALASKA. By E. RUHAMAH SCIDMORE. New edition, paper covers, 50 cents.

The most graphic and accurate account of the resources and possibilities of Alaska that has ever been given. It gives one an immediate desire to start on an exploring tour.

ETC., ETC.

JUST PUBLISHED.

Life and Letters of William Fleming Stevenson, Minister of Christ Church, Rathgar, Dublin. By his Wife. With portrait. 8vo, cloth, $1.75.

NEW SUNDAY-SCHOOL BOOKS.

"At the Hollies;" or, Staying with Auntie. By E. TABOR STEPHENSON, author of "When I Was a Little Girl," etc. 18mo, cloth extra, 60 cents.

A tale for the young, full of instruction, and written in a picturesque style.

Aunt Judith. The Story of a Loving Life. By GRACE BEAUMONT. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.00.

A simple and touching story of the blessed influence exerted by a Christ-like life (Aunt Judith's) on all who came in contact with it. Especially is this the case with one of the characters—a wayward girl, who, by a serious accident, becomes a life-long invalid, and who is taught where to find the strength and grace to enable her to live through the long, long years of suffering.

Children's Champion (The), and the Victories He Won. Pictures from the life of "The Good Earl," Lord Shaftesbury. By Miss LUCY TAYLOR. 12mo, cloth extra, 80 cents.

A simple and touching account of the life and work of one who nobly strove to fulfil the law of Christ, "Bear ye one another's burdens." It is admirably fitted to arouse the interest and enlist the sympathy of the young, and to fire them with a holy ambition to follow the example of one who was a real and not simply an ideal hero.

Dulcie and Tottie; or, The Story of an Old-Fashioned Pair. By EVELYN EVERETT-GREEN, author of "Fighting the Good Fight," "Temple's Trial," etc. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.00.

A sequel to "Dulcie's Little Brother." An interesting tale, written in the simple, natural style and pervaded by the high Christian spirit common to the author's works.

Eagle and Dove. A Tale of the Franco-Prussian War. Founded on Fact. By M. E. CLEMENTS, author of "The Story of the Beacon-Fire," "Sheltering Arms," etc. 12mo, cloth extra, 80 cents.

A capital story, giving the experiences of an English girl in a French school at Metz during the war; and the description of the siege and surrender of the city provides an instructive accompaniment for the interest of the story.

For Her Sake. A Tale of Life in Ireland. By GORDON ROY. 8vo, cloth extra, $1.50.

A powerful picture of life in Ireland to-day. The characters and incidents are described in a remarkably forcible and happy way; while the story itself cannot fail to fascinate the reader and lure him on from beginning to end. It is written in a terse and vigorous style, and is altogether a story of the first order.

Lionel Harcourt, the Etonian; or, "Like Other Fellows." By G. E. WYATT, author of "Archie Digby," "Harry Bertram," etc. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.25.

A cleverly-written story, and one that can hardly fail to impress the minds of all youths into whose hands it may fall. So vigorous and buoyant is the style, so real and life-like are the characters and incidents, that from beginning to end the interest never flags.

Golden Woof (The). A Story of Two Girls' Lives. By MRS. ISLA SITWELL. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.25. Shows how noble deeds in the every-day duties that lie at our hands make a golden woof of life.

Harold's Bride. A Story of Life in India. By A. L. O. E. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.00.

An interesting story, written in the author's characteristic style, and affording instructive glimpses of the hardships and dangers of missionary life in the rural districts of India.

In Palace and Faubourg. A Story of the French Revolution. By C. J. G., author of "Good Fight of Faith," "Ruth Dernen," etc. 8vo, cloth extra, $1.50.

The contrasts of characters and incidents presented in this book are very striking; while there is a peculiar charm about the narrative that cannot fail to captivate the reader.

Little Miss Wardlaw. By LOUISA M. GRAY, author of "Nelly's Teachers," "Ada and Gerty," "Dunilton," etc. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.25.

Well written and deeply interesting. Shows the beauty of an unselfish and unworldly life.

Molly's Heroine. By "FLEUR DE LYS," author of "The Young Huguenots," "A Strange Journey," etc. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.25.

"A safe book for the home circle, pure in style and tone, and character-building in its influence."—Journal of Education.

Nellie O'Neil; or, Our Summer Time. By AGNES C. MAITLAND. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.00.

"A safe book for the home circle, pure in style and tone, and character-building in its influence."—Journal of Education.

Pincherton Farm. By E. A. B. D., author of "Young Ishmael Conway," etc. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.25.

A story showing the elevating influence of a simple trust in God.

Saved by Love. A Story of London Streets. By EMMA LESLIE. 18mo, cloth extra, 50 cents.

This is a story of two little destitute girls alone in London; to whom, as to very many in their condition, the alternative presented itself—steal or starve. As a narrative of their many trials and their ultimate triumph, it contains much to encourage every worker in the Lord's vineyard who is animated by that "faith which worketh by love."

Vera's Trust. A Tale. By EVELYN EVERETT-GREEN, author of "Fighting the Good Fight," "Winning the Victory," etc. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.25.

An intensely interesting book from beginning to end. It will captivate all readers.

Village Missionaries; or, To Every One His Work. 12mo, cloth extra, $1.00.

Hours with Living Men and Women of the Revolution.

A PILGRIMAGE. By BENSON J. LOSSING, LL.D. This is the latest work from the pen of Mr. Lossing, the celebrated historian, and is one of his most quaintly dramatic productions. Square 12mo, cloth, elegantly bound, illustrated with fac-similes of pen-and-ink drawings, $2.00, postage free.

In gathering material for his published works the historian—who, by the way, was born just 14 years after Washington died, and is still hale and hearty—"travelled 9000 miles in the thirteen original States and in Canada to all dwellings of living men and women who were actors in the stirring events of the long past, to hear from their lips the story of their experience and recollections in the birth-time of our Republic." But there remained much that is of great interest that could not find room in his hitherto published works. This is given in "Hours with Living Men and Women of the Revolution." The narratives, incidents, and developments of his pilgrimage read like a romance, are full of stirring patriotism, and inspire the reader with a loyal enthusiasm.

Wall Street in History.

Apropos of the forthcoming patriotic celebration of the Centennial of Washington's Inauguration, Wall Street in history forms an eventful, highly interesting, and important narrative in our national history. We publish this under the title, "Wall Street in History," written by Mrs. MARTHA J. LAMB, author of "The History of New York," etc.

The first chapter covers the century of settlement and savage warfare, inclusive of the period when New York, for nearly fifty years, was actually a walled city. The second chapter is devoted to the vicissitudes of Wall Street in the exciting times of the Revolution, and to its history as the seat of fashion and the State government, and also as the seat of the National government for six eventful years, with President Washington a familiar figure in his chariot drawn by six horses. One chapter treats of the financial institutions which have made the street famous throughout the civilized world. The book is brimful of interest. About 50 excellent and accurate engravings illustrating the text add particularly to its historical value. The book is elegantly bound in cloth, with unique and heavy designs in gold. It is an acquisition for any library, for the centre-table, or for a gift-book. $2.00, postage free.

COMPILED AND WRITTEN BY THE REV. A. R. FAUSSET, M.A.

Illustrated by 600 Woodcuts. 1 Vol., Royal Octavo, Cloth, 750 pp., $5.00.

CRITICAL. EXPOSITORY.

The aim of the work is to put within the reach of all Bible students, learned and unlearned alike, the fruits of modern criticism and research, and at the same time to set forth briefly and suggestively those doctrinal and experimental truths which the written Word contains. Many subjects which most of the Bible dictionaries omit, and which are of deep interest, are handled. All pains have been taken to secure accuracy, and to put the earnest student in possession of the most trustworthy information on debated points.

"More nearly realizes our ideal of a Bible dictionary for all classes than anything that has ever come under our observation."—Lutheran and Missionary.

"A storehouse of Scriptural information in a most compact and accessible form."—Messenger.

"We recommend it with confidence as a volume for the family library and as an aid in the study of the Bible."—Independent.

A BACHELOR'S WEDDING TRIP

By CHARLES POMEROY SHERMAN

THIRD EDITION

Cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

"The story is full of incident, and neither comic nor tragic touches are lacking. Mr. Sherman has made a lively book of the 'Bachelor's Wedding Trip.' His characters are touched off with individuality, and the passages of verse which he brings in at the romantic conjunctions of his story serve to heighten its effect. The volume is agreeable reading; and when Mr. Sherman comes before the public, either with prose or verse, a second time, he will be reasonably sure of a larger audience than this, his first venture."—New York Mail and Express.

The Great French Artist.

AN HOUR WITH DELSARTE. A Study of Expression, by Anna Morgan, of the Chicago Conservatory. Illustrated by Rosa Mueller Sprague and Marian Reynolds, with full-page figure illustrations. 4to, cloth, $2.00.

"Presents in the most compact form the principles of the great French elocutionist, in a series of practical talks, with numerous full-page original drawings, exhibiting the grace and faults of expression and gestures as never before presented in a work of the kind."—Boston Traveller.

"The end of art is to conceal art, and the study of Delsarte is a means to this end. It seeks to provide a plan of self-cultivation in harmony with the lines of natural impulse; to assist, not to improve upon nature, is its aim."—AUTHOR.

By the Author of "Pre-Glacial Man."

ARYAS, SEMITES AND JEWS, JEHOVAH AND THE CHRIST. A Record of Spiritual Advance from the Household or Personal God of the Semite Abram, and from Jehovah, the Tutelary or National God of the Israelites, to the Universal Father Revealed by Jesus the Christ: with the contracts made between the Household God and Abram; the Tutelary God, Jehovah, and the Israelites; and between Our Father in Heaven and all Mankind. Also, the Circumstances, Incidents, and Events attending the Preparation for and the Promulgation of the Second Revelation. By LORENZO BURGE, author of "Pre-Glacial Man and the Aryan Race." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"One of the half dozen writers who stand nearest to Emerson."

ESSAYS: RELIGIOUS, SOCIAL, POLITICAL. By DAVID ATWOOD WASSON. Edited by O. B. Frothingham. With portrait, $2.50.

Mr. Wasson was one of the most profound men of his day, and his essays and poems will find a permanent place in literature. The reader will be captivated by the terse style of this work, and with the learning and thought which Mr. Wasson gave to his essays.

"He is one of the half dozen writers who stand nearest to Emerson, and expresses in spirit if not in style the vigorous originality and independence of American thought and life."—Boston Herald.

"The essays well deserve preservation for their ability, vigorous thought, and elevated tone."—N. Y. Tribune.

A Naturalist's Journey.

IN AUSTRALIA, NEW ZEALAND, NEW GUINEA. By SHERMAN F. DENTON, Artist to the United States Fish Commission, with over 50 illustrations. Cloth, $2.50.

Mr. Denton is a keen observer, an easy writer, and a capital illustrator. The countries through which he travelled are full of strange sights, which he graphically describes. As a naturalist he has had varied experiences, and introduces us to many new specimens of birds and animals. The illustrations are taken from life by the author and give clear ideas of his discoveries in that strange country.

For Primary Schools and Kindergartens.

OBSERVATION LESSONS. A manual for teachers, presenting practical methods of teaching Elementary Science to the Young. By LOUISA P. HOPKINS, Supervisor of Elementary Science in Boston Public Schools. Paper, 25 cents.

A system of instruction for the training of the senses of the young to secure habits of observation, thought, and expression, enabling teachers to teach successfully Elementary Science as required in the present system of education.

Col. Drake's New Book.

BURGOYNE'S INVASION OF 1777, with an outline sketch of the American Invasion of Canada, 1775-1776. By SAMUEL ADAMS DRAKE. Price, about 50 cents, net.

This is a deeply interesting narrative of a remarkable campaign, and is prepared with great historical accuracy, for which this author is noted.

The Leading Novel.

ANDERSONVILLE VIOLETS. A Story of Northern and Southern Life. By HERBERT W. COLLINGWOOD. Cloth, title in four colors, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

"A neatly bound book comes to us with the title of 'Andersonville Violets,' written in a pleasing vein and embodying a healthful moral. The story tells of the life of both Northern and Southern soldiers, who met in deadly strife during the great Civil War, many heroic deeds being painted as if by a master-hand, and the conclusion of this really excellent work is one that cannot fail to give satisfaction to every reader."—Argus and Patriot.

Miss Douglas' Latest.

A MODERN ADAM AND EVE IN A GARDEN. By AMANDA M. DOUGLAS. Cloth, $1.50.

Uniform with

THE DOUGLAS NOVELS. 18 volumes, $1.50 each.

"Exceedingly sweet in tone, strong in incident, witty, and wise. It is a realistic story of a life-struggle full of trials and triumphs."

"The Twin Biographies."

FROM LADY WASHINGTON TO MRS. CLEVELAND. By LYDIA L. GORDON. Cloth, $1.50.

"True womanhood is quite too often overlooked in our country's history. American biography has in the past been almost exclusively devoted to recounting the illustrious deeds of our great men, while our great women, though they have always been an important factor, have been taken as a matter of fact. The author of this volume sets prominently before the public the ladies who have reigned as 'First in the land,' while their illustrious husbands occupy the background. The book is interesting from first to last, and is far above the various cheap works on the same subject."—Book Review.

THE PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES. From Washington to Cleveland, with portraits. By JOHN FROST, LL.D. Brought down to date by Harry W. French. Cloth, white, black, and gold, $1.50.

"Simultaneous with the publication of 'The Ladies of the White House' comes the above-named work, a fitting companion for the first. The aim of the eminent author was to condense the personal and political history of the Presidents, and a man capable of doing that acceptably in 500 pages is a man who deserves well of his generation. The aim has been accomplished in a remarkable degree, making it possible for the student to obtain in a brief time that information which would otherwise cost much time in research through many volumes. The portraits are so excellent that the book, aside from its literary value, ought to obtain great popularity."—Providence Telegram.

OTHER NEW BOOKS.

THE READING CLUB AND HANDY SPEAKER, No. 19. Edited by GEORGE M. BAKER. Paper, 15 cents.

OUR GLORIFIED. Poems and Passages of Consolation. Edited by ELIZABETH HOWARD FOXCROFT. Cloth, $1.00.
